I never use a napkin on my lap at a restaurant...because I believe in myself.

~Hannibal Buress

When people go through something rough in life, they say, "I'm taking it one day at a time." Yes, so is everybody. Because that's how time works.

~Hannibal Buress

I like burritos more than Jesus because steak burritos are delicious. And they're real.

~Hannibal Buress

I applied for a job at Starbucks. One of the questions was, 'Why do you want to work at Starbucks?' Uh, because my life is in shambles.

~Hannibal Buress

I have weird aspirations. Like, I really want to kick a pigeon.

~Hannibal Buress

I want to just at least make it weird for you to watch Cosby Show reruns.

~Hannibal Buress

Don't thank the lord, I gave you that compliment... Thank me.

~Hannibal Buress

My nephew's always crying. I'm like, 'Dude, why are you crying? Your life is great. All you do is eat apple sauce and take dumps. That's your day.

~Hannibal Buress

I don't want to die before Will Smith 'cause then I miss that awesome 'Fresh Prince of Bel-Air' marathon.

~Hannibal Buress

Acting is fun; it's easier than writing, and if you get on a [TV] show, it draws people to your stand-up. That's ultimately what I'd like to do.

~Hannibal Buress

There have been times I've been out, and my phone battery is at nine percent, and I was like, 'Time to go home.'

~Hannibal Buress

In my hometown of Chicago, I'm kind of a medium deal.

~Hannibal Buress

'SNL' is the first real job I've held for more than a month and a half.

~Hannibal Buress

I'm a dumb guy. My point of view is limited.

~Hannibal Buress

If you want to do anything, you got to go do it. Perform a lot, write a lot, make yourself better. Use the Internet, make videos, create content.

~Hannibal Buress

I'm not like a super duper sneaker head. I got a couple pairs, but I'm not a "stand in line for sneakers" type of dude.

~Hannibal Buress

When somebody mangles one of my jokes, that bothers me more than somebody saying that I'm the worst comedian ever.

~Hannibal Buress

I'd like to get more bit-acting roles. I don't know if my talent would allow for a long dialogue, but I could definitely knock out three lines.

~Hannibal Buress

I've been going up and bombing everywhere. It's great. I love it. It's hilarious.

~Hannibal Buress

I play myself on everything I do.

~Hannibal Buress

I love stand-up. I look at it as a way to always stay productive. I couldn't imagine only being an actor or a writer. Because what the hell do I do when I'm not working? Mope?

~Hannibal Buress

I didn't really get into comedy until a couple months before I started doing comedy.

~Hannibal Buress

When I'm doing shows I don't need much from a city. All I'm looking for is a good meal and a decent spot to have a couple drinks.

~Hannibal Buress

Social media is interesting. It helps me connect with fans. It's immediate. It's a big part of my touring business - getting the word out via Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram.

~Hannibal Buress

My dad named me after Hannibal Barca, the Carthaginian general who attacked Rome. But nobody knows about him.

~Hannibal Buress

I feel like comedy is doing well right now because there's so many avenues to be seen. Whether it's through the Internet with social media or web videos and now there's so many networks and TV shows.

~Hannibal Buress

You want to grow where you came up so when you move, you get noticed easier. You can grow in New York but it's better to come here already solid to get your reputation quicker.

~Hannibal Buress
