I will either find a way or make one.

~Hannibal

The mirrors in your mind can reflect the best of yourself, not the worst of someone else.

~Hannibal

If we cannot find a way, we will make one.

~Hannibal

Many things which nature makes difficult become easy to the man who uses his brains.

~Hannibal

Perception is a tool that's pointed on both ends.

~Hannibal

Killing must feel good to God too. He does it all the time. Did God feel good about that? He felt powerful.

~Hannibal

It's not what you appreciate; it's that you appreciate.

~Hannibal

Dogs keep a promise a person can't.

~Hannibal

We will find a way or we shall make one

~Hannibal

Words are living things. They have personality, point of view... agenda.

~Hannibal

All good things to those who wait.

~Hannibal

God has given to man no sharper spur to victory than contempt of death.

~Hannibal

Nothing more isolating than a mental illness.

~Hannibal

I have come not to make war on the Italians, but to aid the Italians against Rome.

~Hannibal

Let us now relieve the Romans of their fears by the death of a feeble old man.

~Hannibal

As a doctor I had no choice. As a philosopher I had too many.

~Hannibal

I swear so soon as age will permit ... I will use fire and steel to arrest the destiny of Rome.

~Hannibal

We're like socks. You can put us through a rough wash once, but you'll never use us again.

~Hannibal

Discourtesy is unspeakably ugly to me.

~Hannibal

Your dreams were the one place you could be physically safe.

~Hannibal

As your mother tells you, and my mother certainly told me, it is important, she always used to say, always to try new things.

~Hannibal

The mongoose I want under the stairs when the snakes slither by.

~Hannibal

We evolved the ability to communicate disappointment to teach those around us good manners

~Hannibal

I was curious what would happen.

~Hannibal

You want the scent? Smell yourself!

~Hannibal

You put the life in your belly and you live.

~Hannibal

Let us ease the Roman people of their continual care, who think it long to await the death of an old man.
