

Hans F. Sennholz

Quotes

Gold, Government, Income, Order, Honesty, Men, Self, Depressing, Sound, People, War, Struggle, Benefits, Successful, Principles, Two, Unemployment, Ambition, Age, Eagles

A government debt is a government claim against personal income and private property - an unpaid tax bill.

~Hans F. Sennholz

No other commodity enjoys as much universal acceptability and marketability as gold.

~Hans F. Sennholz

A 'social justice' society is a conflict which locks beneficiaries and victims alike in a struggle without end. It becomes a society torn apart by resentment over the wealth of capitalists.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Unfortunately, it is not in the power of government to make everyone more prosperous. Government can only raise the income of one person by taking from another.

~Hans F. Sennholz

War cannot be driven out by war, for the use of evil breeds more evil, hostility more hostility, and the use of force more force.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Political power intoxicates the best hearts. No man is wise enough, nor good enough, to be trusted with much political power.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The government transfers income and wealth according to the rules of politics, which make politicians the primary beneficiaries of the system, and the poor and needy the primary victims.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Instead of safeguarding truth and honesty, the state then tends to become a major source of insincerity and mendacity.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Centers of unionism are also the centers of unemployment.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The gold standard, in one form or another, will prevail long after the present rash of national fiats is forgotten or remembered only in currency museums.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Government is rather ill-suited and poorly equipped to alleviate the plight of the poor. It lacks moral rules or standards, and is devoid of basic principles in economic and social matters.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The gold standard sooner or later will return with the force and inevitability of natural law, for it is the money of freedom and honesty.

~Hans F. Sennholz

...there seems to be a correlation between the intensity of the official attacks on gold and the severity of monetary crises.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The transfer society is forever testing the bounds of patience of taxpayers. Having reached the limit and still facing loud demands for more benefits, it resorts to deficit financing.

~Hans F. Sennholz

An ounce of gold is an ounce of gold, whether it consists of guineas, sovereigns or eagles.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The history of fiat money is little more than a register of monetary follies and inflations. Our present age merely affords another entry in this dismal register.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The paper standard is self-destructive.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Freedom is the quality of being free from the control of regulators and tax collectors. If I want to be free their control, I must not impose controls on others.

~Hans F. Sennholz

A monetary order created and managed by politicians and officials is bound to disappoint.

~Hans F. Sennholz

There is no escape from the vast imbalances in international trade and finance. They will be corrected, sooner or later, by the inexorable principles that govern human action.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Since there is no orderly way to liquidate the federal debt, we must brace for a payment crisis.

~Hans F. Sennholz

To live beyond your means today is to live below them tomorrow.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Sound money and free banking are not impossible; they are merely illegal.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Envy is more irreconcilable than hate. It is the most corroding of all political vices and also a great power in our land. The friends of freedom are content to be envied, but envy not.

~Hans F. Sennholz

The popular notion that an increase in the stock of money is socially and economically beneficial and desirable is one of the great fallacies of our time.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Inflationism is a dreadful cancer that is gnawing at the backbone of the civilized order.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Peace is the natural state of man, war the temporary repeal of reason and virtue.

~Hans F. Sennholz

Related Links:

- Gold Quotes
- Government Quotes
- Income Quotes
- Order Quotes
- Honesty Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Self Quotes
- Depressing Quotes
- Sound Quotes
- People Quotes
- War Quotes
- Struggle Quotes
- Benefits Quotes
- Successful Quotes
- Principles Quotes
- Two Quotes
- Unemployment Quotes
- Ambition Quotes
- Age Quotes
- Eagles Quotes