The moment you accept God's ordering, that moment your work ceases to be a task, and becomes your calling; you pass from bondage to freedom, from the shadow-land of life into life itself.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Not prayer without faith, nor faith without prayer, but prayer in faith, is the cost of spiritual gifts and graces.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Value friendship for what there is in it, not for what can be gotten out of it.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

A loving trust in the Author of the Bible is the best preparation for a wise study of the Bible.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Friendship by its very nature consists in loving, rather than in being loved.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

If a man is unable to find the way to Jesus, he ought to be led. It is good work this bringing the blind to Him who alone can give them sight.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

No parent ought to punish a child except with a view to the child's good. And in order to do good to a child through his punishment, a parent must religiously refrain from punishing him while angry.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

An over-readiness to criticise or to depreciate a minister of Christ is proof of a lack of devotion to Christ.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

It is not an easy thing for a parent of today to bear always in mind that every child of his is as truly an individual as he was when he was a child.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Conscience tells us that we ought to do right, but it does not tell us what right is - that we are taught by God's word.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Jesus has never slept for an hour while one of His disciples watched and prayed in agony.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

He who knows how to teach a child is not competent for the oversight of a child's education unless he also knows how to train a child.

~Henry Clay Trumbull

All that any of us has to do in this world is his simple duty

~Henry Clay Trumbull

Just as sure as the days go by, Jesus will come to us, looking for fruit; and He will come in personal hunger, needing and longing for the fruit which we might have ready for Him.
