People do things for love and belief and passion, not just because they're paid to do it.

~Herbert

As never before does the keeping of our economic machine in tune depend upon wise policies in the administrative side of the government.

~Herbert

I dont like Jews. Or colored folk. Or natives, now that you mention it...I bet you like Catholics. Cant stand them either. Nor women, Fabians, Socialists, homosexuals, Asians, or British.

~Herbert

I always talk about my ambition with music, and it's to sort of seduce people into listening to sounds they wouldn't normally listen to or want to hear.

~Herbert

You always come back to Duke Ellington - he's kind of like the thread that holds everything together from the big band descending to lots of jazz, actually.

~Herbert

In modern studios, we're so used to becoming little dictators; you're used to the fascism of having complete control over every element.

~Herbert

Often people try and just consider music as music, in a musical context. People seem to forget that music is not just audio material - it's also the artwork, the packaging it comes in.

~Herbert

I think people are complacent about sound, because we're so limited by the textures and timbres we hear in music, but in our everyday life we hear the most incredible things.

~Herbert

I think rhythm is, when you talk about rhythmic sensibility, quite perceptive in that I like to have at least one thing that is at least common or familiar to the audience.

~Herbert

I try to be original in every piece of music I do, and of course I probably fail every time.

~Herbert

Chaos is hateful. That indeterminate nature of war brings a really unsettling atmosphere to life.

~Herbert

Pigs are very intelligent. They're very misunderstood. Yet they're sort of man's unofficial best friend.

~Herbert
