A second can feel like forever if what follows is heartbreak.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

When you care about other people, it takes the spotlight off your own drama.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

The ability to keep your mouth shut is usually a sign of intelligence

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

All reality is a blender where hopes and dreams are mixed with fear and despair.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

I somehow make it through the first month. I dress and brush my teeth when they tell me to. And I experience the hollow feeling of complete loss, which is emptiness.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

What we expect rarely occurs; what we don't expect is what happens.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

If you're lost, you might need to swim against the tide.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

It has been my experience that rewarding and heartbreaking often go hand in hand.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

I'm putting my place in the universe into perspective. I'm stardust. I'm golden brown. I'm just one small bit in a vast expanse.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

Endings are always the beginnings of something else

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

I'll be ready. I'm not sure for what exactly. But maybe that's what being ready really means.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

For someone grieving, moving forward is the challenge. Because after extreme loss, you want to go back.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

For him and his brother, he now knew, that music was real. Because all you had to do, really, was be willing to use your imagination. And listen.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

I don't want to know how you did it. I want to believe you are magic.

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

And just being there is ninety-nine percent of what matters when your world falls apart

~Holly Goldberg Sloan

I force myself to think of anything but the one thing that I'm actually always thinking about. And that is so exhausting that I sleep more than I ever have.
