I don't think simple is an insult. Something that's really simple and great is probably harder to do than something more complex.

~Ira Kaplan

Sometimes things that are comfortable are comfortable because it's what you're good at. When you start doing the things you're not as comfortable with, there needs to be a reason for it.

~Ira Kaplan

We try to be open to letting anything change in the moment.

~Ira Kaplan

As the fans' voting reflected, people want to hear your best-known songs.

~Ira Kaplan

In the open air you don't play as many quiet songs as you would normally.

~Ira Kaplan

It's one of the things that makes it enjoyable to keep playing; you have to approach each set differently and make some balance between what you want to do and what seems right.

~Ira Kaplan

Some sports teams hate each other in the locker room and that's what makes them great.

~Ira Kaplan

There's an actual physiological thing that happens to me on tour. There's that moment where I sit in my seat and click the seatbelt, and five seconds later I fall asleep.

~Ira Kaplan

When people ask you to do stuff, it's not your idea anymore, so it's tough to get behind it.

~Ira Kaplan

I have grown more forgiving. I accept that not everything is for me. I'm not as in love with my own opinions as I used to be. And anger is not something that comes to me as quickly as it once did.
