Dance, my darling dance! If you dance then death can't catch you!
Nothing bad can touch you! Dance!

~Jackie French

If you want intelligent children give them a book. If you want more intelligent children give them more books.

~Jackie French

A book can change the world... Every book a child reads creates new neurons in that child's brain.

~Jackie French

Books aren't like broccoli. You don't have to eat it because it's good for you. Books drag you in because they are fascinating.

~Jackie French

The song and dance didn't stop us dying. It just stopped the fear of death swallowing us up while we were still alive.

~Jackie French

If something is worth doing you may as well go heart and soul and boot leather.

~Jackie French

I might be able to find out what happened 6,000 years ago but I will never know what happens 6,000 years in the future! And that is not fair, blast it.

~Jackie French

I've always found the world is the most extraordinarily fascinating place and the more data you get, the more you can actually put pieces into this jigsaw.

~Jackie French

Morning: Slept. Afternoon: Slept. Evening: Ate grass. Night: Ate grass. Decided grass is boring. Scratched. Hard to reach the itchy bits. Slept.

~Jackie French

For me books have always been an incredibly solid part of my life, both as escapism and simply as resource.

~Jackie French

Often the true hero and heroines of my books are the houses, the places, the communities where people find a home.

~Jackie French

Death had ruled my life till I met Lady Dance. Her dance had set me free.

~Jackie French

I don't read like other people do - back and forth, across the page. I tend to scan a page at a time.

~Jackie French

One of my extraordinary regrets about my death is not so much that it's going to happen but simply that I'll never know what happens next.
