Books didn't make me wallow in darkness, darkness made me wallow in books.

~Jackson Pearce

The cruelest thing, hope, the way it strings you along, the way it makes you believe.

~Jackson Pearce

Freedom of speech doesn't mean freedom from judgement.

~Jackson Pearce

How could I possibly try to pretend the sunlight doesn't exist, now that it's taken so much of me?

~Jackson Pearce

I am confident, I am capable, and I will not wait to be rescued by a woodsman or a hunter.

~Jackson Pearce

Knowledge does have a way of making you an outcast.

~Jackson Pearce

Maybe all you can do, when your world is burning, is hold on to the thing you love the most.

~Jackson Pearce

I'm friggin' awesome! So screw the haters!

~Jackson Pearce

I like libraries. It's a comfort that knowledge can be save for so long. That what we learn can be passed on.

~Jackson Pearce

I follow, always, because its the only time when our hearts beat in perfect harmony, the only time when I'm certain, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that we are one person broken in two.

~Jackson Pearce

My sister has the heart of an artist with a hatchet and an eye patch. And I, we both now know, have a heart that is undeniably, irreparably different.

~Jackson Pearce

Making fake promises while wearing a fancy dress... that isn't enough. Promises take more work than that.
