Never be ashamed of what or how you feel... just be honest.

~Jaimie Alexander

Life is about trusting your feelings and taking chances, losing and finding happiness, appreciating the memories, learning from the past, and realizing people change.

~Jaimie Alexander

I will never be a waif. I want to market myself as a healthy-looking woman who is an action-star kind of girl.

~Jaimie Alexander

There was one time I wrestled two boys and I beat them both! They weighed a lot less than I did and I think they didn't want to hurt a girl, so I don't know if I really won - I'd like to think I did.

~Jaimie Alexander

I was cast in 'Thor' back in 2009, so it sort of took me out of the running for anything tied to DC Comics.

~Jaimie Alexander

I actually read "Wonder Woman," and here's the thing about her: she's more of a physical presence than anything else. You don't get to really know her on the inside.

~Jaimie Alexander

I think that when people look at me, and they look at my height and my voice and my coloring, they automatically think, "Tough."

~Jaimie Alexander

I'm blessed with very fast memorization skills, so I don't have to read it too far in advance.

~Jaimie Alexander

I'm a very physical person. I hug people, more so than shake hands.

~Jaimie Alexander

I try to do yoga when I can to make sure that I'm flexible and that I'm not going to tear any muscle or pull anything.

~Jaimie Alexander

I got into the business all by chance. I really enjoy what I do now, but it wasn't always a huge dream of mine. I think I always had thought about it growing up, though.

~Jaimie Alexander

If I find the right character, I don't care if it's a film, a television show or a play, I'm gonna do it. Everybody crosses over and it's just one big pool of stuff now.

~Jaimie Alexander

I'm pretty healthy, most of the time.

~Jaimie Alexander

Television is competitive now, and the great stories live on television right now. I'm finding that I'm enjoying television more than film, these days. That was my motivation to take a TV show.

~Jaimie Alexander

Chris Farley, I was a huge fan of his growing up. I would love to do something kind of slapstick and funny, maybe where I could change my look even a little bit.

~Jaimie Alexander

Just for fun, I'm really goofy and I would love to do some stupid comedy. I'm talking, like, crazy, out there, Will Ferrell type of thing. I love it, I think those movies are so funny.
