Bad things can happen, and often do--but they only take up a few pages of your story; and anyone can survive a few pages.

~James A. Owen

If you really want to do something, no one can stop you. But if you really don't want to do something, no one can help you

~James A. Owen

Don't ascribe to evil what can be attributed to well-intentioned stupidity.

~James A. Owen

Sometimes a catastrophe is simply a course correction.

~James A. Owen

I'm a conundrum. Or an enigma. I forget which.

~James A. Owen

If everything in the past has value, then there's no reason for regret, ever.

~James A. Owen

Never, ever, sacrifice what you want the most, for what you want the most at that moment.

~James A. Owen

All stories are true. But some of them never happened.

~James A. Owen

Your ability to shape your destiny is directly proportional to your belief that it is a matter of will and determination--however much or little that belief may be.

~James A. Owen

Prayers aren't for the deity...They're for you, to recommit yourself to what you believe.

~James A. Owen

The Secret of Drawing consists of just two things: 1) Making lines on paper; and 2) Choosing where they go.

~James A. Owen

A choice with no consequences has no value. Making a choice knowing there will be consequences, and being willing to bear them, is what distinguishes the right choices from the wrong ones.

~James A. Owen

Jack," said Charles, "he's making up words again." "Yes," Jack replied, "but he's getting better at it, don't you think?"

~James A. Owen

That isn't a desperate act. That's a PLAN.

~James A. Owen

If I can't joke about imminent death, then I might as well just resign.

~James A. Owen

It is the world, my boy," he said. "All the World, in ink and blood, vellum and parchment, leather and hide. It is the World, and it is yours to save or lose.

~James A. Owen

Discipline, Norah. If you're going to taunt them, remember to stick out your tongue.

~James A. Owen

Always, always ask for what you want. Because the Universe might surprise you "€" and give it to you.

~James A. Owen

Live deliberately. Decide: are you the kind of person things happen to, or the kind of person who makes things happen?

~James A. Owen

Just because I'm a murdering, thieving, cowardly, traitorous sort doesn't mean I can't do my job properly.

~James A. Owen

Not many people can lay claim to having broken Time, and we did it purely by accident.

~James A. Owen

I think that nonexistent mythological creature just broke some of your toes," Jack said. Oh, shut up," said Charles

~James A. Owen

Interesting doesn't always equal practical, but being practical is always less interesting.

~James A. Owen

You're a very odd man," said Bert. "I get that more often than you'd think," replied Charles.
