Whatever the result may be, I shall carry to my grave the consciousness that I at least meant well for my country.

~James Buchanan

The ballot box is the surest arbiter of disputes among free men.

~James Buchanan

The storm of frenzy and faction must inevitably dash itself in vain against the unshaken rock of the Constitution.

~James Buchanan

I am the last President of the United States!

~James Buchanan

Our union rests upon public opinion, and can never be cemented by the blood of its citizens shed in civil war.

~James Buchanan

There is nothing stable but Heaven and the Constitution.

~James Buchanan

The Government of the United States possesses no power whatever over the question of religion.

~James Buchanan

To avoid entangling alliances has been a maxim of our policy ever since the days of Washington, and its wisdom no one will attempt to dispute.

~James Buchanan

Liberty must be allowed to work out its natural results; and these will, ere long, astonish the world.

~James Buchanan

All the friends that I loved and wanted to reward are dead, and all the enemies that I hated and I had marked out for punishment are turned to my friends.

~James Buchanan

If you are as happy in entering the White House as I shall feel on returning to Wheatland, you are a happy man indeed.

~James Buchanan

If you are as happy, my dear sir, on entering this house as I am in leaving it and returning home, you are the happiest man in this country.

~James Buchanan

I have gone wooing to several gentlemen, but have not succeeded with any of them.

~James Buchanan

I like the noise of democracy.

~James Buchanan

Abstract propositions should never be discussed by a legislative body.

~James Buchanan

The distribution of patronage of the Government is by far the most disagreeable duty of the President.

~James Buchanan
