Rock stars are incredibly energizing to me.

~James Daly

You lie awake at 3 in the morning thinking of story ideas. You're online at 8 a.m. on a Sunday or midnight on a Wednesday. It's a job that you never push aside.

~James Daly

You can't be distracted by the noise of misinformation.

~James Daly

It's very rare that publications double their frequency.

~James Daly

See, what we were going to do was say, the Internet is this great business strategy tool.

~James Daly

The stock market can be down, but the stock market is not an indication of where people's spirits and enthusiasm are, and where their intellectual energy is.

~James Daly

You can't suppress creativity, you can't suppress innovation.

~James Daly

The collective energy of everyone is what really made Business 2.0 exciting.

~James Daly

The best rock musicians are the most exciting people in the world.

~James Daly

I still believe that the mission of Business 2.0 is very strong, very fundamental, and we're really at the beginning of where they're going to take us.

~James Daly

I think Fast Company has a tremendously smart focus and execution.

~James Daly

People who say that the Internet is the bubble are incredibly misguided.

~James Daly

The magazine was being started by a company that had no experience in business magazine publishing. It was a little difficult to get people to sort of buy into it and to join the staff, but we did.

~James Daly

I'm a history buff, and right now we're sitting on one of the most dramatic historical shifts that this planet has ever seen and we have a front row seat for it.

~James Daly

The story of the Internet is this incredibly strong, exciting change.

~James Daly

You've just got to focus on excellence and try not to be distracted by the news and the rumors and the absurdities of the stories that were coming out.

~James Daly

I got to sit down with people who I admired, and have conversations with some of the greatest thinkers and artists and performers. It's a huge privilege for me to be a journalist.

~James Daly

You know, technology CEOs like to think of themselves as rock 'n roll stars.

~James Daly

There certainly was a lot of potential in the air for doing a magazine which focused on the way business, in particular, was being transformed by the Internet.

~James Daly

And I love writing. I've always loved writing.

~James Daly

There was never any danger of Business 2.0 ever going under.

~James Daly

You have to remember a lot of business is very cyclical.

~James Daly

Certainly there are bubble-like valuations of certain companies, but I don't think anyone out there believes that we're going to go back to doing business the way we used to do business.

~James Daly

The hardest part of it was really being away from my family - I have two small children. Last year I took over 20 business trips, so being away from them was hard.

~James Daly

Business 2.0 was hugely profitable last year, and will be profitable this year.

~James Daly

Business people have been made into these rock stars because they've made a lot of money.
