Democrats and Republicans were essentially the same party with different faces and that was why, no matter how many promises each leader made, significant change rarely transpired.

~James Morcan

Left vs. Right is an out-dated concept and an oversimplification of 21st Century politics

~James Morcan

Any time a secret group usurps the collective will of the people, it's wrong. Period.

~James Morcan

It's becoming obvious to most that mainstream media is nothing but a megaphone for the global elite to present biased news that's designed to align the masses with their agenda.

~James Morcan

The ends justify the means mindset has been the impetus behind many a cruel medical or social experiment.

~James Morcan

Nazi ideologies continue to the present day behind the veil of supposedly free societies and governments.

~James Morcan

Those rare individuals society labels geniuses are almost always freaks of nature and are naturally gifted rather than being diligent students who became geniuses because of their education.

~James Morcan

If enough citizens believe their national security's in jeopardy then politicians who propose wars will receive the support they need.
