My mother taught me what it is to have a sense of humour; my dad, who was a headmaster, everything you need to know about hard work. My dad is the most decent man you could come across.

~James Nesbitt

I'm not strong-willed enough or unkind enough... or maybe simply not wise enough to tell a journalist that a subject is out of bounds.

~James Nesbitt

Spoilt is a euphemism for loved.

~James Nesbitt

In my life, I have made the occasional catastrophic choice, and it's just a case of moving on and learning from it.

~James Nesbitt

It's ridiculous, but it's horrible going bald. Anyone who says it isn't is lying.

~James Nesbitt

I spend my money on holidays and eating out, and it allows me to be generous.

~James Nesbitt

The thing to remember is that the work comes first, and not to get distracted by anything else. If you keep focused on the work, everything else will fall into place. That's my mantra now.

~James Nesbitt

Martin Freeman as [Bilbo] is just a revelation.

~James Nesbitt

I didn't much like Las Vegas. The noise of the place and the whole 24-hour, 'let's play the slot machines all night' culture of the place just left me cold.

~James Nesbitt

I thought I was God's gift to mankind and the greatest Irishman since George Best.

~James Nesbitt

New Zealand is a place where you can get well.

~James Nesbitt

I'd be a very easy therapist's subject.

~James Nesbitt

I never forget that I'm extremely fortunate.

~James Nesbitt

I've heard some duff Irish accents. The worst must be Mickey Rourke.
