Books are keys that open many doors -- James Rollins

~James Rollins

Often-times it's madness, not genius that moves the world forward. Who else but the mad would reach so far, stretching for the impossible and, in so doing, prove the impossible possible!

~James Rollins

When mankind pushes, nature sometimes pushes back

~James Rollins

Whenever I start a novel, I'm always looking for two things: a bit of science that makes me go 'what if?' and a piece of history that ends in a question mark.

~James Rollins

It ain't always rocket science, sometimes a door is just a door.

~James Rollins

Festina lente. Make haste slowly.

~James Rollins

Throughout history, knowledge rises and falls, ebbs and flows. What once was known is forgotten again, lost in time, sometimes for centuries, only to be rediscovered ages later.

~James Rollins

Always respect Mother Nature. Especially when she weighs 400 pounds and is guarding her baby.

~James Rollins

The truth is often one's best shield.

~James Rollins

~James Rollins

A stunnerâ€reminds me of Tom Clancy at his finest.

~James Rollins

I don't actually have a one wellspring of inspiration. Though I'm most often inspired while reading - both fiction and nonfiction.

~James Rollins

Often life asks much of you, and you either honor life by answering with all your heart, or you cower your way into your grave.

~James Rollins

With two books a year, I don't have time for writer's block.

~James Rollins

Wringin' your hands only stops you from rollin' up your sleeves.

~James Rollins

I'm pretty disciplined to keep the momentum of a story going by writing everyday, even if it's only a couple paragraphs or a page or two.

~James Rollins

Growing up with three brothers and three sisters, I was the storyteller of the family... what my mother called 'The Liar.'

~James Rollins

Guns, grendels, or nuclear bombs; take your pick.

~James Rollins

Gray imagined Kat scolding her husband in an operatic duet that has been going on between husbands and wives for ages, that eternal mix of exasperation and love." -- James Rollins

~James Rollins

The hope for our nation and our world lies within our ability to innovate and move forward technologically.

~James Rollins

The strong were always eating the weak.

~James Rollins

it sucks to get old...but there's always beer

~James Rollins

I was all set to blow some crap up.

~James Rollins

Generally, if you preface an interview request with, 'I'm an author writing a book,' for some reason, that seems to open a lot of doors.

~James Rollins

When someone is always looking over their shoulder, they're more likely to trip.

~James Rollins

They wanted them to look like the Gods. God doesn't look like this.
