I believe a woman who loves herself is a powerful, passionate, attractive force and I commit from this day forward to love myself deeply and extravagantly

~Jan Phillips

Find what brings you joy and go there.

~Jan Phillips

Time is all we have. One lifetime under this name to produce a body of work that says, This is how I saw the world. Your work is worthy of whatever time it takes.

~Jan Phillips

The real thing is that sweet joy you feel when you're in the midst of it.

~Jan Phillips

I believe that what it is I have been called to do will make itself known when I have made myself ready.

~Jan Phillips

To be an artist is not to wait for others to define us, but to define ourselves, claim our lives.

~Jan Phillips

I believe that the Source from which we come is alive in us as our breath, and as we speak and sing and breathe, we release the beauty of the Creator into the world.

~Jan Phillips

Remember, we are creating the lives we're about to enter into.

~Jan Phillips

There's someone out there who needs you. You must live your life so that person can find you.

~Jan Phillips

We photographers are poets in the language of symbols.

~Jan Phillips

God to me is the universe unfolding.

~Jan Phillips

Photos are our autobiography, a way of telling who we are.

~Jan Phillips
