The way to do much in a short time is to love much. People will do great things if they are stirred with enthusiasm and love.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

It is better to begin a great work than to finish a small one.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

It is not so much what we say or do that educates; what really educates is who we are.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

I wish that Christmas may be happy and heavenly, and the holidays glow with the gifts of the inner life that God will give to each one.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

You must grow like a tree, not like a mushroom

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Do not wait for ideal circumstances, nor the best opportunities; they will never come.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

To aim at the best and to remain essentially ourselves is one and the same thing.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Isn't it wonderful that two of the most sacred and symbolic plants, the olive and the vine, live on almost nothing, a terrace of limestone, sun and rain.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

All sorts of spiritual gifts come through privations, if they are accepted.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Every friendship with God and every love between Him and a soul is the only one of its kind.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

We must never try to escape the obligation of living at our best.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

We know in whom we believe, and that, so long as we trust God utterly, all must come right.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Effective learning means arriving at new power, and the consciousness of new power is one of the most stimulating things in life.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Love gives a sense of rest.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

In no order of things is adolescence the time of the simple life.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Our spiritual life is a venture in the dark, between the soul and God, and no spiritual life is worth the name unless it is so.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Egypt is full of dreams, mysteries, memories.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Simplicity of life is an essential for greatness of life.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

The great thing and the hard thing is to stick to things when you have outlived the first interest, and not yet got the second, which comes with a sort of mastery.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

This world is not the sum total of God's resources -- on the contrary, it is only the 'dream,' the probation, the prelude of the true world, the true life.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

What a misfortune it would be, religiously speaking and educationally speaking, if we could only work happily with those who saw things as we do.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

We can sanctify ourselves in common things. We must do so.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

There ought to be so many who are excellent, there are so few.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

The less event and action there is in a scene the more I can enter into it.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

it is in middle age that the interest of a life attains its highest point.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Life is a solitude.

~Janet Erskine Stuart

Are democracy and poetry exclusive of one another and, if so, why?
