What keeps me going is that quest for just being able to be present and be myself. Not for people, but for me.

~Janet Mock

Be stingy with your time and spend it in spaces that fill you up.

~Janet Mock

Our visibility shouldn't be subject to such extreme circumstances.

~Janet Mock

Trans women of color dangerously fall in between the cracks of racial justice, feminist and LGbt movements.

~Janet Mock

Desire, and the ways in which men perform their masculinity and feel as if they can take up space and say anything about your body, have always been a dangerous space for me.
