It's easier for opposition members to condemn the government at the drop of a hat if they don't understand.

~Jason Kenney

Rural Alberta is a lot less homogeneous than it used to be, partly because of my immigration policies.

~Jason Kenney

Sometimes the government has to answer questions with ambiguous language.

~Jason Kenney

I thought very seriously having something more like a normal life where I might have my weekends and evenings off, and be able to read and have a more robust personal life.

~Jason Kenney

For members who have only ever been in government, the negativity and aggressiveness of the opposition is easy to caricature.

~Jason Kenney

Sometimes there are no good choices for government.

~Jason Kenney

I do believe there is absolutely space for legitimate debate in a liberal democracy about immigration selection, screening and integration.

~Jason Kenney

I think I've chosen the right path.

~Jason Kenney

I have said explicitly from day one when I announced this policy in, I believe, November of 2011, that I and our government oppose the idea of banning the wearing of the niqab in public.

~Jason Kenney

Finally, as I've said, this is - why are you talking about Jewish women's wigs and people wearing turbans? That has nothing whatsoever to do with niqab.

~Jason Kenney

I think very few people in Canada are seeking - to regulate any public expressions of individuals' religions.

~Jason Kenney

Many, many times I would shake my head in dismay at the goings-on in the House of Commons, but that never caused me to lose my fundamental faith in the values of our parliamentary institutions.

~Jason Kenney

The public citizenship oath done in a court in front of a judge and one's fellow citizens should be done publicly.

~Jason Kenney

There's not a word in the Quran or the Hadith that requires that women cover their faces. To the contrary, the only requirement is that they uncover their faces when they're doing the haj.
