

Jean Liedloff

Quotes

Children, Disappointment, Real, Thinking, Baby, Order, Fall, Happiness, Book, Normal, Trying, Goal, Voice, Born, Self Esteem, Winter, Learning, Parenting, Autumn, Teacher

A baby's cry is precisely as serious as it sounds.

~Jean Liedloff

Children need to see that they are assumed to be well-intentioned, naturally social people who are trying to do the right thing and who want reliable reactions from their elders to guide them.

~Jean Liedloff

I would be ashamed to admit to the Indians that, where I come from, the women do not feel themselves capable of raising children until they read the instructions written in a book by a strange man.

~Jean Liedloff

Nobody's born rotten. You just don't have bad kids. It's not true. There is no such thing. But we can make them bad.

~Jean Liedloff

Happiness ceases to be a normal condition of being alive, and becomes a goal.

~Jean Liedloff

Our own system of trying to guess what or how much a child's mind can assimilate results in cross purposes, misunderstanding, disappointments, anger and a general loss of harmony.

~Jean Liedloff

Related Links:

- Children Quotes
- Disappointment Quotes
- Real Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Baby Quotes
- Order Quotes
- Fall Quotes
- Happiness Quotes
- Book Quotes
- Normal Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Goal Quotes
- Voice Quotes
- Born Quotes
- Self Esteem Quotes
- Winter Quotes
- Learning Quotes
- Parenting Quotes
- Autumn Quotes
- Teacher Quotes