Simple is hard. Easy is harder. Invisible is hardest.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

That makes my nipples hard!

~Jean-Louis Gassee

Advertising is saying you're good. PR is getting someone else to say you're good.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

The romance of Silicon Valley was about money - excuse me, about changing the world, one million dollars at a time.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

The goal of the computer is to provide people with the means to extend people's minds and bodies. It is an exoskeleton that expands our human reach.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

I want to see the two CEOs of RIM and (Apple CEO Steve) Jobs working together. The thought of this menage a trois is absolutely hilarious.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

Overall, OS/2's problems fall into two categories: IBM and Microsoft.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

As the monkey climbs the tree, more people can see his bottom.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

Yet you would not drive a car with your mouth unless you are my mother-in-law.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

When an idea, a proposition, a cause is presented to me in terms that leave me no alternative but to be for it, because it's all pros and no cons, then I know I'm being conned.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

Don't try to lawyer me out of common sense.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

On the Intel platform, Microsoft is the defacto standard. It's the weather.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

I didn't realise those spaces were for the emotionally handicapped.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

When I want to do something mindless to relax, I reinstall Windows 95.

~Jean-Louis Gassee

I worked 22 years in the industry, and I noticed that operating systems get cancer with age.
