

Jean Reno Quotes

Men, People, America, Spain, Impress, Film, Actors, Way, Directors, Thinking, Essentials, Cameras, Earth, Simple, Paradox, Few Friends, Play, Kids, Proud, Festivals

I'm a minimalist. I don't really need much to enjoy a good holiday - just my family and the bare essentials.

~Jean Reno

The best way to impress a woman is to be the most honest you can.

~Jean Reno

Because I was born in Casablanca and my parents were from the south of Spain, I do not have a big central root in France. I feel French but in a few ways, not at all French.

~Jean Reno

No women no kids - that's the rules.

~Jean Reno

There is no heaven on Earth. Not now anyway.

~Jean Reno

Actually, I only have a few friends in real life. And when I say friends, I'm referring to those people who I've known since the 1960s.

~Jean Reno

Being proud and being nationalistic are, for me, completely different things.

~Jean Reno

But I will say that most comedians are the saddest people I know. That is the biggest paradox to me.

~Jean Reno

It is an actor's defect. I want everybody to like me, so I'll say what I think will please them.

~Jean Reno

I don't get the romances. I did try - a film called 'Roseanna's Grave' in the 1990s. I liked it. But the audience didn't come.

~Jean Reno

I see most of my movies at festivals.

~Jean Reno

At home I keep things simple with fish, pasta and soups and am often preparing stuff for the family.

~Jean Reno

In France, if you have any sort of talent, you'd better keep it here. And if you're going to go abroad, it had better not be America. The old battle - American versus Frog cinema. It's ridiculous.

~Jean Reno

I'd like to do plays, maybe a one man show.

~Jean Reno

Related Links:

- Men Quotes
- People Quotes
- America Quotes
- Spain Quotes
- Impress Quotes
- Film Quotes
- Actors Quotes
- Way Quotes
- Directors Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Essentials Quotes
- Cameras Quotes
- Earth Quotes
- Simple Quotes
- Paradox Quotes
- Few Friends Quotes
- Play Quotes
- Kids Quotes
- Proud Quotes
- Festivals Quotes