It was a great thrill just to know Roy Orbison, so to play, sing, write hit songs with him and have him in The Traveling Wilburys was beyond my wildest dreams!

~Jeff Lynne

There's not much you can do with a ukulele that doesn't sound happy.

~Jeff Lynne

I try to find nice chord changes, that's how I love to start, and then I start trying to knock it into a song, knock it into shape.

~Jeff Lynne

Yes, I love to play drums and bass and guitar and piano. Those are the main instruments I play. That is it.

~Jeff Lynne

There are a million people who can come up with little bits. The hard work is making those bits into something.

~Jeff Lynne

The hairs stand up on the back of my neck at certain music.

~Jeff Lynne

At the end of the day I have to please myself. And I've made a record to please myself.

~Jeff Lynne

Live shows are fun - sometimes. But you have to practice for months on end.

~Jeff Lynne

Old music is the same as new music - it's just a different way of delivering it.

~Jeff Lynne

It was so simple in the old days. You put out an album, people promoted it, it got in the charts, and you had a hit.

~Jeff Lynne

I like the natural sound of a room. All the rooms have their own sound, so it's a matter of putting it where you like and seeing what it sounds like.

~Jeff Lynne

As you get older, the days have gone, and the years have gone, and it's 'whoosh!

~Jeff Lynne

I'm still getting thrilled with music even after 40 years of doing it professionally.

~Jeff Lynne

The first band I saw were Mike Sheridan and The Nightriders, in their brown mohair suits, in 1966.

~Jeff Lynne

I just want to be in the studio. When you've got all the gear you want in your own house, it's difficult to go out and do something else, you know?

~Jeff Lynne

When you do a song new live on stage, it's kind of a bit weird until it gets worn in, you know, like oiled up a bit. It's still a little bit stiff until you really thrashed at it for a few weeks.

~Jeff Lynne

I don't actually like touring.

~Jeff Lynne

To me, making records isn't work.

~Jeff Lynne

I just realized how long it was since the last album, and where did the time go? You know?

~Jeff Lynne

I think from the age of thirteen, I really wanted to be a producer and I've always thought that the producer was the top of the tree.
