I realise there's something incredibly honest about trees in winter, how they're experts at letting things go.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I've had the wind knocked out of me, but never the hurricane

~Jeffrey McDaniel

Even when I'm dead, I'll swim through the Earth, like a mermaid of the soil, just to be next to your bones.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I've been ignored by prettier women than you, but none who carried the heavy pitchers of silence so far, without spilling a drop.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I want to rip off your logic and make passionate sense to you. I want to ride in the swing of your hips. My fingers will dig in you like quotation marks, blazing your limbs into parts of speech.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I swallowed a hand grenade that never stops exploding.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

There's two kinds of women--those you write poems about and those you don't.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I know it's stupid to not own a gun yet have so many triggers, but in some other world gigantic seashells hold humans to their ears and listen to the echo of machines.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I want to rip off your logic and make passionate sense to you.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I graduated first in my class from alibi school.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

I want to whisper poetry into your mind and imprint love letters to your soul and dance with you in an empty white room of potential

~Jeffrey McDaniel

Once I thought I found love, but then I realized I was just out of cigarettes.

~Jeffrey McDaniel

Your absence weighs more than someone else's presence

~Jeffrey McDaniel
