There's more to us than the moment we made a bad decision.

~Jenji Kohan

First of all, I find everything funny, which is upsetting to my children sometimes, and to people in my life, in general.

But, I like the challenge of, "How can we stretch this out? Where can we go with it?" It's an open road, especially at Netflix. You can take it anywhere you want.

~Jenji Kohan

I'm always looking for a nexus, where you can put all these diverse people together, see how they respond to one another, see what they learn about each other, and what they like and don't like.
