

Jennifer Stone

Quotes

Heart, Light, Morality, Self, Art, Technology, Reality, Style, School, Television, Real, Eye, Writing, Mother, Thinking, Culture, Poetry, Children, Knowledge, Tvs

Consumerism is our national religion.

~Jennifer Stone

As the medieval mind blamed God for human suffering, so the modern mind blames 'the system' for the industrial blight and plague of technology.

~Jennifer Stone

One parody is worth a thousand polemics.

~Jennifer Stone

What you say is who you are. How you say it is your style.

~Jennifer Stone

Technology evolves so much faster than wisdom.

~Jennifer Stone

Perception is a prism, and reality is like shot silk - depends where the light hits.

~Jennifer Stone

When I went to school, they told me literature was a rope I must use to climb out of the dark well of unknowing. Writers are the knots on the rope.

~Jennifer Stone

sex is like sandwiches, there has to be something in between.

~Jennifer Stone

like any Irish mother, I am scar tissue to the bone.

~Jennifer Stone

Longing is all that lasts.

~Jennifer Stone

During the summertime, I really like to dress like a gypsy. I love that whole lifestyle and the whole mixing of fabrics and flowy materials.

~Jennifer Stone

Films tend to argue in favor of whatever they show.

~Jennifer Stone

You can't make poetry out of thought; poetry is passion. Linear thought must be seduced by wild mind, by the fires of ecstasy.

~Jennifer Stone

Writing poetry is like always being in love. What masochism! What luxury!

~Jennifer Stone

For a poet, style is the only morality.

~Jennifer Stone

Secrets of the heart are seldom news.

~Jennifer Stone

I don't think a person should take herself seriously unless she is alone.

~Jennifer Stone

Human comedy is more profound than tragedy. In tragedy we die and it is very sad. In comedy we avoid death, and it is even sadder.

~Jennifer Stone

The life of the city cat is short but so sophisticated.

~Jennifer Stone

The society that destroys its children is eating its own tail, committing suicide in the most perverse way.

~Jennifer Stone

I'm accused of cleverness as if it were a sin. She is merely clever, they say.

~Jennifer Stone

It's love and the capacity for love that distinguishes one human being from another.

~Jennifer Stone

Most of us do not use speech to express thought. We use it to express feelings.

~Jennifer Stone

I believe that while art is always beyond morality, it is never above it.

~Jennifer Stone

History repeats herself.

~Jennifer Stone

Integrity pays, but not in cash.

~Jennifer Stone

Hope is a dream deferred.

~Jennifer Stone

TV shapes thought as surely as language shapes it.

~Jennifer Stone

Misogyny is the death of the heart.

~Jennifer Stone

As art reveals the artist more than the world, so you see yourself and what you are not in the mirror of another culture.

~Jennifer Stone

... romance is unsatisfactory as a religion. It is no use looking for the infinite in the eyes of another.

~Jennifer Stone

There are only two kinds of pain: too much love or too little.

~Jennifer Stone

Just as a salesperson is never extreme or original or overdressed, so the TV retailers never do anything to distract their audiences from the real product, the commercial.

~Jennifer Stone

In an age in which greed and lust stalk the land like some Biblical plague, it is easy to view sex as just one more thing to be had. It is the mythos of moderns.

~Jennifer Stone

married was the loneliest I got - being without the one you're with.

~Jennifer Stone

if we begin on the men, there is no stopping. We must love them when we can.

~Jennifer Stone

movies have mirrored our moods and myths since the century began. They have taken on some of the work of religion.

~Jennifer Stone

Opinion is the death of knowledge.

~Jennifer Stone

Love is all there's time for.

~Jennifer Stone

Trauma reflected upon in tranquility can produce morally stunning insights - literary light! It can also produce maudlin rubbish.

~Jennifer Stone

All media can muddy the mind. Language leads to literature. It also leads to dogma.

~Jennifer Stone

Writing, as I experience it, means wringing out the heart/mind until it stops lying.

~Jennifer Stone

it takes a lot of rehearsal to become yourself.

~Jennifer Stone

writers who go outside the lines when they draw pictures of the world are seldom rewarded for their efforts.

~Jennifer Stone

Love, like alcoholism, comes to a point of no return.

~Jennifer Stone

ladies are just those of us who have been silenced.

~Jennifer Stone

High school was great when it ended.

~Jennifer Stone

Greed stains our culture, soaks our sensibilities and has replaced grace as a sign of our intimacy with the divine.

~Jennifer Stone

I do have an older brother! But you know, he and I have always gotten along. We've always had different aspirations.

~Jennifer Stone

I love any kind of acting, so if I could focus on becoming the best actor I can strictly on my voice, I would love that.

~Jennifer Stone

We do what we can. The results are none of our business.

~Jennifer Stone

Most people wish to be consoled, confirmed. They want their prejudices reinforced and their structured belief systems validated. After all, it hurts to think, and it's absolute agony to think twice.

~Jennifer Stone

a time has come in our history when what is known has little connection with what is done.

~Jennifer Stone

Growing old is not a thing to watch. It cannot be forgiven in others. Alone, it can be borne. Even indulged.

~Jennifer Stone

Related Links:

- Heart Quotes
- Light Quotes
- Morality Quotes
- Self Quotes
- Art Quotes
- Technology Quotes
- Reality Quotes
- Style Quotes
- School Quotes
- Television Quotes
- Real Quotes
- Eye Quotes
- Writing Quotes
- Mother Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Culture Quotes
- Poetry Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Knowledge Quotes
- Tvs Quotes