Your mercies are more than your afflictions.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Christian contentment is that sweet, inward, quiet, gracious frame of spirit, which freely submits to and delights in God's wise and fatherly disposal in every condition.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

I beseech you to consider that God does not deal by you as you deal with him.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

One drop of the sweetness of heaven is enough to take away all the sourness and bitterness of all the afflictions in the world.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

It is the happiness of heaven to have God be all in all.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Note this, I beseech you: in active obedience we worship God by doing what pleases God, but by passive obedience we do as well worship God by being pleased with what God does.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

A noble heart is a thankful heart that loves to acknowledge whenever it has received any mercy.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

What is the duty of the circumstances God has put me into?

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Thus, a godly man wonders at his cross that it is not more, a wicked man wonders his cross is so much.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Holiness is the very principle of eternal life, the very beginning of eternal life in the heart, and that which will certainly grow up to eternal life.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

I am discontented because I have not these things which God never yet promised me, and therefore I sin much against the Gospel, and against the grace of faith.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

To be well skilled in the mystery of Christian contentment is the duty, glory and excellence of a Christian.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

When God has given you your heart's desire, what have you done with your heart's desire?

~Jeremiah Burroughs

But if I have once overcome my heart, and am contented through the grace of God in my heart, then this makes me content not only in one particular but in general, whatever befalls me.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Faith has this excellency, that it is able to bring life out of death, light out of darkness. It has a kind of creating virtue.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

It is a woman's reason to say I will do such a thing because I will.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

the Lord does not so much look at the work that is done, as at the faithfulness of our hearts in doing it.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Temptations will no more prevail over a contented man, than a dart that is thrown against a brazen wall.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Our names... are in the hands of God, Who will preserve them so far as He has use of them, and further we shall have no use of them ourselves.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

It is a special part of the divine worship that we owe to God, to be content in a Christian way, as has been shown to you.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

the disorders of your hearts, and their sinful workings are as words before God.

~Jeremiah Burroughs

Oh, that we could but convince men and women that murmuring spirit is a greater evil than any affliction, whatever the affliction!

~Jeremiah Burroughs
