I don't speak Italian, but I do speak Moschino.

~Jeremy Scott

When I first started my own brand, when I needed an icon, I had no other icon but myself. I had to create that.

~Jeremy Scott

I won't work with people who won't give me the freedom to be me.

~Jeremy Scott

The world has changed around me. I've been me, and continuously being me in a constant, steadfast way.

~Jeremy Scott

If you want me to shine, you need to give me the parole to do that.

~Jeremy Scott

I love what I do, and I only want more. I love the whole process. I love designing, I love figuring out how to make the clothes happen, I love the ad campaigns.

~Jeremy Scott

People think I'm being stupid or false humble. It's not. I don't think I always fit in. Maybe it's a complex you get as someone who has always been fighting on the outside.

~Jeremy Scott

I guess I always think of myself as more of the people. I always feel like a bit of an outsider.

~Jeremy Scott

I've always loved plastics and rubber, and it's such a specifically unique material that you have to have the manufacturing abilities to make it.

~Jeremy Scott

When I'm hell-bent on something, there's no way around it. I can be a very stubborn.

~Jeremy Scott

I think I'm one of few American designers doing a house in Europe, and I think I've been proving myself there very well.

~Jeremy Scott

Working with Moschino, a real high fashion Italian brand, maybe I'm under tighter deadlines, but sometimes under tight deadlines you do your best work.

~Jeremy Scott

I think when people think of something as basic, they think that it's boring.

~Jeremy Scott

I have so much to be thankful and grateful for, and I just think about my fans, who did put me to where I am. I can promise you this: my appointment at Moschino did not come from anyone but them.

~Jeremy Scott

Working at Moschino has been great because I just have to deliver when I have to deliver.

~Jeremy Scott

I think the way the world has evolved, it's maybe caught up to me. It makes more sense and it makes it click on a larger scale.

~Jeremy Scott

Madonna is the ultimate pop star of all time, hands down.

~Jeremy Scott

I just love the ideal of the surreal quality of putting it on a shoe.
