Let me tell you, if you have never seen an agitated squirrel you have seen very little, nor have you heard much, because the sound of an angry squirrel is not to be forgotten.

~Joe R. Lansdale

Hallowed be thy name, oh Lord -- and shotgun do your stuff

~Joe R. Lansdale

I thought I had the world by the tail. It took me a few years to realize the closest I was to having the world by the tail was being a dingle berry on one of its ass hairs.

~Joe R. Lansdale

Don't try to skin your rabbit and keep it as a pet too.

~Joe R. Lansdale

I have finally become my own genre, and now that's what publishers want. I have a wonderful publisher now, Mulholland, very innovated, very fine people working there.

~Joe R. Lansdale

I think I have broken into the mainstream, and I think that may happen in a broader way, but I want to do it on my own terms, not become a standard producer.

~Joe R. Lansdale

The logic of a madman is a sane man's confusion.

~Joe R. Lansdale

I'm not poor now, but unlike some of my friends who are now rich, I haven't embraced conservatism and religion. I'm not opposed to religion if you keep it out of my life.

~Joe R. Lansdale

Only our memories allow that some people ever existed. That they mattered, or mattered too much.

~Joe R. Lansdale

It was the kind of talk that made me want to break off a limb and take to whacking her and that bunch of hypocrites across the back of the head.

~Joe R. Lansdale

There's no one more obnoxious and self-righteous than the self-made man. And no one more admirable.

~Joe R. Lansdale

They might have been all-right people doing the best they could, but I got to tell you, you got a dead cat lying in your yard you ought to bury it. That's my motto.

~Joe R. Lansdale

A day without the sun is like you know, night

~Joe R. Lansdale
