The only thing worse than growing up is never quite learning how

~Joel Plaskett

I hope people leave my show thinking they've had a worthwhile couple of hours. The worst thing you want is for people to think they've wasted their time or didn't get their money's worth.

~Joel Plaskett

I love playing and I like traveling. I really do like playing in Canada, its not to diminish anywhere else because touring internationally can be cool.

~Joel Plaskett

We still need to have one beautiful lady standing there.

~Joel Plaskett

My dad brings a deep-seated knowledge of the British folk genre, and a lot of my love for guitar playing comes from learning from him and his influences, which eventually became my influences.

~Joel Plaskett

I might be a teacher or something like that. I really like young people. I always think about the teachers I had that did a good job. I would maybe have the same aspirations.

~Joel Plaskett

That memory of making the record is a huge part of the record itself.

~Joel Plaskett

Great art is a regional thing. I'm not saying my art is great. I recognize what I think is great about music is often on a regional level.

~Joel Plaskett

I like New Orleans music, I like Memphis music and I like the way that the sound like those places. I like how there are stars and there are people in those cities that are revered in the community.

~Joel Plaskett

When I'm recording a song, I wake up and I'm thinking about it. I go to sleep and I'm thinking about it.

~Joel Plaskett

I've been really supported by my family and my wife. She really understands what I do, but it doesn't get any easier when you get away all the time and so I'm trying to find the balance.

~Joel Plaskett

I tend to pour myself into my music and I don't have a lot of other places my mind goes, unless it's spending time with family and friends.

~Joel Plaskett

I've always had a fondness for language... English. Not that I use it correctly but I like words. I like books and I like poetry.. I like the written word... and the sung word.

~Joel Plaskett

There's a reason that I love this town.
