There are plenty of fish in the sea, if I run out of women.

~Joey Comeau

Be the trouble you want to see in the world.

~Joey Comeau

Having all the answers just means you've been asking boring questions.

~Joey Comeau

It doesn't matter if the glass is half full or half empty. I am gonna drink it through this crazy straw.

~Joey Comeau

And when our sun explodes and we are all destroyed, we'll be rocks and chunks of I am not sure what, and maybe we'll rain down on somewhere else.

~Joey Comeau

We are terrible for each other, and, yes, we are a disaster. But tell me your heart doesn't race for a hurricane or a burning building. I'd rather die terrified than live forever.

~Joey Comeau

Romance is all about making a story out of our love.

~Joey Comeau

When the end comes, I hope it's as strange as that. I hope that the sky tears open and the world is washed with colors that we've never seen before.

~Joey Comeau

Judge if you want, we are all going to die. I intend to deserve it.

~Joey Comeau

I am writing to apply for the position of bookkeeper. Attached, you will find my list of qualifications. I have been keeping books for four years now, and I am never going to give them back.

~Joey Comeau

I want to make something, and I want people to know I made it.

~Joey Comeau

I feel the way bank robbers must feel before they go out on that last job that ends up getting them all killed. That is to say, optimistic.

~Joey Comeau

If at first you don't succeed...run.

~Joey Comeau

There's a romance to danger. There's a romance to drinking, to drugs, to petty crime and to heartbreak and loneliness. All of those things can be used to make the story of our lives better.

~Joey Comeau

I never wanted anything to happen to my parents, but a hero needs an origin story.

~Joey Comeau

Home is where the heart is, until we get a chance to bury it. Home is where the heart pulled the nails out of its feet, and fled.

~Joey Comeau

I'd rather die terrified than live forever.

~Joey Comeau

Alzheimer's disease is death before death, and I'm terrified of it.

~Joey Comeau

Being in love is totally punk rock.

~Joey Comeau

Memories are like everything else. They're a trap.

~Joey Comeau

You are never so low that you deserve to be lower.

~Joey Comeau

Depression is like slashing at ghosts. Of course it's tempting to finally cut something real.

~Joey Comeau

If we couldn't carry our dead inside us, we would be empty.

~Joey Comeau

Satellite images, maps and blueprints of the whole world, of every city. We could look it up and know what's there in someone else's words. Or we could get wicked drunk and just go.

~Joey Comeau

Listening to music that I hate calms me down.

~Joey Comeau

Well, it's possible to be mentally ill and rational.

~Joey Comeau

I have a form of ESP that allows me to consistently pick losing lottery numbers, and generally make poor life choices.

~Joey Comeau

The family that prays together, still probably dies in the fire.

~Joey Comeau

I've always known I'd be a bank robber. So judge all you want, ladies and gentlemen. Because you never did become an astronaut.

~Joey Comeau

When I played doctor I played to win.

~Joey Comeau

Death is not the end. Death is an ocean on all sides of our lives. Deep and dark and cold, and anything but empty.

~Joey Comeau

Happiness is not a house where you can live. (But it is a house you can build.)

~Joey Comeau

Kissing girls is easy, like breaking windows.

~Joey Comeau

Art isn't just paint and music, art is breaking glass and the sounds we make without realizing.
