In the mind, there are no limits...

~John C. Lilly

The experienced, wise, energetic, intelligent individual functioning in a loose coalition with others in a wide network is far more effective than he is in a tightly organized group.

~John C. Lilly

I believe in our culture we need certain socially accepted places where we don't answer the telephone, we don't have to answer questions or agree with anyone on anything

~John C. Lilly

In the centre of the cyclone one is off the wheel of Karma, of life, rising to join the Creators of the Universe, the Creators of us. Here we find that we have created Them who are Us.

~John C. Lilly

The miracle is that the universe created a part of itself, to study itself, and that this part in studying itself finds the rest of the universe in its own natural inner realities.

~John C. Lilly

All laws are simulations of reality.

~John C. Lilly

There are no mistakes, there are only correctable errors. There are no errors, there are only alternate programs.

~John C. Lilly

The fear that the universe is not what you assume it to be is very basic, especially when you know damn well it isn't what you assume it to be.

~John C. Lilly

Cosmic love is absolutely Ruthless and Highly Indifferent: it teaches its lessons whether you like/ dislike them or not.

~John C. Lilly

You don't have to suffer continual chaos in order to grow.
