I want every fan of Rand to hear [Polaha] say the classic Galt phrase: "I swear by my life and my love of it that I will never live for the sake of another man, nor ask another man to live for mine."

~John Galt

All property and all forms of wealth are produced by man's mind and labor.

~John Galt

Government power is always abused by seizing and perverting the law. And with few exceptions, government always determines what is law.

~John Galt

Evil is impotent and has no power but that which we let it extort from us.

~John Galt

There can be no causeless love or any sort of causeless emotion. An emotion is a response to a fact of reality, an estimate dictated by your standards.

~John Galt

A trader is a man who earns what he gets and does not give or take the undeserved.

~John Galt

I seek no values by means of evil, nor do I surrender my values to evil.

~John Galt

Man's mind is his basic tool of survival. Life is given to him, survival is not.

~John Galt

No matter how vast your knowledge or how modest, it is your own mind that has to acquire it.

~John Galt

As there can be no causeless wealth, so there can be no causeless love or any sort of causeless emotion.

~John Galt

Whatever he was-that robot in the Garden of Eden, who existed without mind, without values, without labor, without love-he was not man.

~John Galt

It's not that I don't suffer, it's that I know the unimportance of suffering.

~John Galt

An attempt to gain a value by deceiving the mind of others is an act of raising your victims to a position higher than reality.

~John Galt

Whenever a man denounces the mind, it is because his goal is of a nature the mind would not permit him to confess.

~John Galt

The cloven-foot of self-interest was now and then to be seen aneath the robe of public principle.

~John Galt

A trader does not squander his body as fodder or his soul as alms.

~John Galt

To rule without being felt is the great mystery of policy.

~John Galt

Man cannot survive except by gaining knowledge, and reason is his only means to gain it.

~John Galt

I will stop the motor of the world.

~John Galt

Every form of causeless self-doubt, every feeling of inferiority and secret unworthiness is, in fact, man's hidden dread of his inability to deal with existence.

~John Galt

In a word, man in London is not quite so good a creature as he is out of it.
