John Katzman Quotes

School, Thinking, Needs, Kids, Years, People, Team, Quality, Technology, Believe, Fashion, Moving, Internet, Market Leaders, Should, Cost Benefit Analysis, Collaboration, Jobs, Peers, Discovery

The Internet will save higher education, but it may kill your alma mater.

~John Katzman

I hated being a public company CEO.

~John Katzman

You still remember your SAT scores. And everybody else does too. Everybody's forgotten everything about themselves, everything else about high school. They remember their SAT scores.

~John Katzman

We should get rid of the SAT as fast as we can. Look, there are bigger problems in society. This is not the biggest problem we have. But it's so easy to get rid of it. Right? Just pull the plug.

~John Katzman

I'd never taken an SAT prep course. They were for weaker students.

~John Katzman

I think a good entrepreneur has a very clear grasp of what the goal is, an unwavering sense of the goal, an utterly agile approach of getting there.

~John Katzman

Exciting discoveries in neuroscience are allowing us to fit educational methods to new understandings of how the brain develops.

~John Katzman

Almost everyone who has claimed to know what kids need to learn or how they learn has turned out to be wrong.

~John Katzman

After graduation, I took a job with Manufacturers Hanover Trust in software development. I don't think I was there more than a month.

~John Katzman

There shouldn't be one Sal Khan - there should be 100,000 of them.

~John Katzman

Related Links:
- School Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Needs Quotes
- Kids Quotes
- Years Quotes
- People Quotes
- Team Quotes
- Quality Quotes
- Technology Quotes
- Believe Quotes
- Fashion Quotes
- Moving Quotes
- Internet Quotes
- Market Leaders Quotes
- Should Quotes
- Cost Benefit Analysis Quotes
- Collaboration Quotes
- Jobs Quotes
- Peers Quotes
- Discovery Quotes