I've done bad things with relish, and good things with pickles.

~John S. Hall

It's not just that I'm stupid; it's that I'm just smart enough to know how stupid I am. I wish I weren't so stupid. Or that I were stupider.

~John S. Hall

I feel that true freedom lies within, where I shall never find it.

~John S. Hall

The task that lies before me is daunting and the rewards are uncertain. I should probably let someone else do it.

~John S. Hall

Today, life will offer me many lessons. I will learn nothing.

~John S. Hall

My father was a really great man. I'll never forget the last thing he ever said to me. Nor will I ever repeat it.

~John S. Hall

Many people talk as if they have all the answers, whereas I know I don't. That's probably why no one listens to me.

~John S. Hall
