If I don't cry while writing a key emotional scene, my gut feeling is it's failed.

~Jojo Moyes

You only get one life. It's actually your duty to live it as fully as possible.

~Jojo Moyes

Some mistakes... Just have greater consequences than others. But you don't have to let the result of one mistake be the thing that defines you. You, Clark, have the choice not to let that happen.

~Jojo Moyes

I let him know a hurt had been mended in a way that he couldn't have known, and for that alone there would always be a piece of me indebted to him.

~Jojo Moyes

Push yourself. Don't Settle. Just live well. Just LIVE.

~Jojo Moyes

There is a hunger in you. A fearlessness. You just buried it, like most people do.

~Jojo Moyes

Because even if the whole world was throwing rocks at you, if you still had your mother or father at your back, you'd be okay.

~Jojo Moyes

And it was suddenly very simple: There was no choice.

~Jojo Moyes

There is a whole lot more to life than winning.

~Jojo Moyes

When you put someone down all the time, eventually they stop listening to the sensible stuff.

~Jojo Moyes

But just as nature abhors a vacuum -- so does the human heart.

~Jojo Moyes

He smelt of the sun, as if it had seeped deep into his skin, and I found myself inhaling silently, as if he were something delicious.

~Jojo Moyes

Just live well. Just live

~Jojo Moyes

We are all part of some great cycle, some pattern that it was only God's purpose to understand.

~Jojo Moyes

â€‹â€‹â€‹â€‹â€‹â€‹ You're going to feel uncomfortable in your new world for a bit. It always does feel strange to be knocked out of your comfort zone.

~Jojo Moyes

Sometimes life is a series of obstacles, a matter of putting one foot in front of the other. Sometimes, she realizes suddenly, it is simply a matter of blind faith.

~Jojo Moyes

Believe me, you have to have a certain confidence in your powers of discretion to let a dentist loose with a drill in your mouth less than an hour after you've...um...entertained his wife.

~Jojo Moyes

Somewhere in this world is a man who loves you, who understands how precious and clever and kind you are. A man who has always loved you and, to his detriment, suspects he always will.

~Jojo Moyes

Try to write at least 500 words a day. You may ditch 499 of them tomorrow, but you will still be moving forward.

~Jojo Moyes

I realized I was afraid of living without him. How is it you have the right to destroy my life, I wanted to demand of him, but I'm not allowed a say in yours? But I had promised.

~Jojo Moyes

Do you know how hard it is to say nothing? When every atom of you strains to do the opposite? I had practiced not saying anything the whole way from the airport, and it was still nearly killing me.

~Jojo Moyes

But don't blame me for the food. My wife knows a hundred and one ways to incinerate a cow, and as far as I can tell she's still experimenting.

~Jojo Moyes

I was once told by someone wise that writing is perilous as you cannot always guarantee your words will be read in the spirit in which they were written.

~Jojo Moyes

Nobody fights you like your own sister; nobody else knows the most vulnerable parts of you and will aim for them without mercy.

~Jojo Moyes

All that counts is the truth. Without it you're basically just juggling people's daft ideas.

~Jojo Moyes

I just... want to be a man who has been to a concert with a girl in a red dress. Just for a few minutes more.

~Jojo Moyes

I thought, briefly, that I would never feel as intensely connected to the world, to another human being, as I did at that moment.

~Jojo Moyes

Sometimes, Clark, you are pretty much the only thing that makes me want to get up in the morning.

~Jojo Moyes

I can't do this because I can't...I can't be the man I want to be with you. And that means that this - this just becomes...another reminder of what I am not.

~Jojo Moyes

... if you're going to wear a dress like that you need to wear it with confidence. You need to fill it out mentally as well as physically.

~Jojo Moyes

You can only actually help someone who wants to be helped.

~Jojo Moyes

Sit here long enough you get to know everything. You listen, see ?" She taps the side of her head. "Nobody listens any more. Everyone knows what they want to hear, but nobody actually listens.

~Jojo Moyes

She went kind of pink and laughed, the kind of laugh you do when you know you shouldn't be laughing. The kind of laugh that spoke of a conspiracy.

~Jojo Moyes

Cheap as chips, cheap as chips, it's a British expression. There's no couture in their darling.

~Jojo Moyes

Only you, Will Traynor, could tell a woman how to wear a bloody dress.

~Jojo Moyes

There are normal hours, and then there are invalid hours, where time stalls and slips, where life---real life---seems to exist at one remove.

~Jojo Moyes

Know that you hold my heart, my hopes, in your hands.

~Jojo Moyes

How is it possible to exist with so much pain?

~Jojo Moyes

Astonishingly, not all girls get dressed just to please men.

~Jojo Moyes

I held him close and said nothing, all the while telling him silently that he was loved. Oh, but he was loved.

~Jojo Moyes

It's complicated.' 'So's quantitative easing. But I still get that it means printing money.

~Jojo Moyes

Real friends were the kind where you pick up where you'd left off, whether it be a week since you'd seen each other or two years.

~Jojo Moyes

I worked out what would make me happy, and I worked out what I wanted to do, and I trained myself to do the job that would make those two things happen

~Jojo Moyes

I will never, ever regret the things I've done. Because most days, all you have are places in your memory that you can go to.

~Jojo Moyes

How could you live each day knowing that you were simply whiling away the days until your own death?

~Jojo Moyes

I chose to believe that God, a benign God, would understand our sufferings and forgive us our trespasses.

~Jojo Moyes

I told him I loved him,â€• she said, her voice dropping to a whisper. â€œAnd he just said it wasn't enough.â€• Her eyes were wide and bleak . â€œHow am I supposed to live with that?

~Jojo Moyes
