I don't need someone to complete me, I need someone to make things a little bit better every now and again.

~Jon Richardson

Why do fools fall in love? I'll tell you why, because everybody else has simply got too much else to do.

~Jon Richardson

I don't mean to hate people, I just get forced into it.

~Jon Richardson

I know very well that I have no reason to feel aggrieved - I am fully aware of how lucky I am, but knowing it and still being down makes me hate myself all the more.

~Jon Richardson

I refuse to believe that clubbing is how people are supposed to meet to establish relationships on a level far beyond what we consider to be a norm in modern society.

~Jon Richardson

Anyone who tells you that it is better to have loved and lost than to never loved at all has never done both.

~Jon Richardson

It is so much easier to grieve for the dead than to care for the living. At least in death we are all perfect.

~Jon Richardson

I don't think I'd have any friends if I didn't obscure at least 99% of my thoughts.

~Jon Richardson

I don't really talk to people.

~Jon Richardson

I love paying tax so much, the sight of a gritter lorry gives me an erection.
