Numbing the senses by monotonously repeating an assertion is a key element in utilizing mind control techniques.

~Joost Meerloo

It's among the intelligentsia that we often find the glib compulsion to explain everything and to understand nothing.

~Joost Meerloo

Demoralization of the target audience is yet another step in successful mind control.

~Joost Meerloo

Confusing a targeted audience is one of the necessary ingredients for effective mind control.

~Joost Meerloo

The big lie and monotonously repeated nonsense have more emotional appeal in a cold war than logic and reason.

~Joost Meerloo

The bulk of the totalitarian-minded in the democratic societies are men and women who are attracted to this destructive way of life for inner emotional reasons unknown to themselves.

~Joost Meerloo

. . . well publicized facts are always the bane to the mind controllers.
