The same stimulus that animates men to action, will have a proportionate effect on juvenile minds.

~Joseph Lancaster

All are agreed, that the increase of learning and good morals are great blessings to society.

~Joseph Lancaster

Indeed, I am sometimes inclined to doubt whether some men consider youth as rational and intelligent beings, with minds capable of expansion, and talents formed for usefulness.

~Joseph Lancaster

The complaint of bad pay, and difficulty in obtaining it, is almost generally reiterated through every department of education.

~Joseph Lancaster

The sincere teachers of their youth should be met, not with an intention to dictate to them, but to give additional force to their well-meant endeavours, and raise them to public esteem.

~Joseph Lancaster

IT is difficult to speak or write with becoming moderation or propriety, on topics to which we are biased by prejudice, interest, or even principle.

~Joseph Lancaster

We daily witness the beneficial effect produced to the community by the institution of premiums, held out to encourage the inventions of ingenious mechanics.

~Joseph Lancaster

Female schools might be comprised in the list of those worthy the public patronage, with great propriety.

~Joseph Lancaster

My school is attended by near three hundred scholars.
