I only watch TV when I go to hotels.

~Joss Stone

To me, music has to be about freedom. It's the most important thing in my life.

~Joss Stone

Life is good. Or at least, it's always interesting.

~Joss Stone

I'm supposed to be taking time off. But I'm still writing and I have this Gap advert lined up.

~Joss Stone

Who says soul has only one colour?

~Joss Stone

It's ok to be sassy, but I'll never be trashy, it's ok to be nasty, but you got to keep it classy now

~Joss Stone

If you remember one thing from talking to me, remember this: I am just a girl who makes noises - and I'm incredibly lucky that people happen to like those noises.

~Joss Stone

It's like, 'You're not allowed to change. That's not fair. We like you like this.' But I don't. So let me expand and express myself.

~Joss Stone

I don't like listening to music that isn't real.

~Joss Stone

Love #music. It will #love you back.

~Joss Stone

The musicians one day are going to listen to me.

~Joss Stone

It would just be nice if everybody would be nice.

~Joss Stone

If I could be a doctor and save lives I would, but I can't so I sing songs.

~Joss Stone

I can be whatever. I can wear shoes or don't wear shoes. I can tie my hair up or wear it down. It doesn't matter.

~Joss Stone

People grow. It's okay to grow. Some people find that difficult to grasp.

~Joss Stone

If you capture the first thought that you have when you're creating, and then play that to people, it's kind of like the listeners are part of that beginning. And that's the most exciting part.

~Joss Stone

It strikes me as weird that a 25 year old man would even find a 16 year old attractive.

~Joss Stone

The only country that hasn't liked my music is my own.

~Joss Stone

People started saying I was ignoring my country, making up stories about me. Ludicrous things, like that I throw tea on my assistants.

~Joss Stone

I feel so, so lucky. Lucky because of many things.

~Joss Stone

I like many different things you know so I'm probably going to experiment, and if I didn't I'd be a little bit strange and boring and stiff and kind of dead, and I'm very not that.

~Joss Stone

I wanted out of my record deal with EMI. They wanted me to record one type of album; I wanted to record the type of music I wanted to make.

~Joss Stone

People say I'm the white Aretha Franklin. I wish I was her.

~Joss Stone

If you give yourself too much time, you kind of over-obsess about the music. It's not supposed to be like that.

~Joss Stone

I've had to grow up with everyone watching me, which has been hard.

~Joss Stone

I like to dip in and out of all sorts of different things. God, if I was asked to be in a show, like a real show, I would be so up for doing that.

~Joss Stone

I really love art and I always have in every single different form and I just hope that I'm able to give some art that will touch some people and help them to be more positive and stronger.

~Joss Stone

The recession is everywhere. We need to be heard. Wouldn't it be great if there could be more referendums so we could have regular voting on specific points?

~Joss Stone

The British press has been unfair to me and the public has followed.

~Joss Stone

I never pay a fortune for clothes.

~Joss Stone

I just wear what I think looks nice.

~Joss Stone

I made my new album 'Colour Me Free!' in a week with my own money.

~Joss Stone

My family fight, that's the way it is. We're not common as muck or anything but we do have a little fight now and then.

~Joss Stone

I've got a checklist of things I want - including a Brit, a Grammy, an Oscar and a white poodle. Sometimes it gets lonely, and I want a baby too! I'm ticking things off the list.

~Joss Stone

There are people in England that claim benefits because they are too nervous to work, so they claim their benefits for anxiety and never have to go out side there free home.

~Joss Stone

I guess this year I'm going to find out if I'm good enough or not. If I'm not, I don't care. I'll do something else, it's not a biggie.

~Joss Stone

It's sad that people listen to music and decide how the singer should look.

~Joss Stone

There's always a silver lining to every cloud and everything has to happen for a reason and if everything's really challenging, then you can make it into a positive.

~Joss Stone

When you have the opportunity to make music with great musicians, take it. That's it. That's the only reason I need, really.

~Joss Stone

I would never want something I'm wearing or the way I'm dancing or something to overshadow what I'm doing. I'd rather grab people's attention with my voice.

~Joss Stone

I feel like I'm a quick learner and I'm also very quick to forget. That's why I can't play an instrument because I can't bloody remember it.

~Joss Stone

When you get your first record deal, you will do anything, because you just want to sing.
