It seems that when you get to a certain age you almost give yourself permission to misbehave and say what you think. People allow it, with very old people.

~Julie Walters

I don't know if you can change things, but it's a drop in the ocean.

~Julie Walters

I keep seeing myself in my daughter, and I see my mother in me and in her. Bloody hell.

~Julie Walters

Debate is so much better than denial.

~Julie Walters

It's getting better but men still earn more and there are more jobs for them. Ageism is a big thing. Parts for women disappear as you get older.

~Julie Walters

There were people asking 'Can women be funny?' People still ask that. It's like asking: 'Can women breathe in and out?'

~Julie Walters

Being a mother adds another emotional dimension, a feel for children that I didn't have before I had one. They were a pain before.

~Julie Walters

I can understand why people get annoyed at being remembered for one thing, but a lot of actors aren't remembered for anything. I don't mind that.

~Julie Walters

When I think of the future, I think of doing my washing so I've something to wear tomorrow.

~Julie Walters

I couldn't watch Tom and Jerry. The cruelty was too much. I had all these strange images, of tiny animals, all mixed up.

~Julie Walters

My grandmother lived with us for a short time while I was a child. Old people tend to be slightly more eccentric - they can behave the way they want.

~Julie Walters

I didn't come into the business to get awards or titles.

~Julie Walters

That's why I'm an actress - escaping into a world.

~Julie Walters

Suddenly, you are very much in the present, and you learn it's really the place where you should always live.

~Julie Walters

Stage is the most exciting. Film is lovely, because it's like a family.

~Julie Walters

I don't like being out of the crowd. It's lonely within a group.

~Julie Walters

I was asked about doing a nude shoot for men's magazine GQ. I thought it was the funniest thing I'd ever heard.

~Julie Walters

It's very strong after the birth. It's extraordinary. You can't watch anything to do with kids being harmed.

~Julie Walters

I was always someone who lived in the future all the time, it was always the next thing - dreams of escape.

~Julie Walters

I think comedy's something you can't learn. It's an instinct, which makes it rather elusive.

~Julie Walters

Jane Austen was an extraordinary woman; to actually be able to survive as a novelist in those days - unmarried - was just unheard of.

~Julie Walters

I'm writing a novel about two actresses who go to New York, because that's what I know about. One has lost touch with reality, disappears and is picked up by a man.

~Julie Walters

I'd like to think there'll be too much of real life going on for me to want to do much acting.

~Julie Walters

I don't want to give up acting - it's what I am.

~Julie Walters

I'd love to be in another film, but they haven't asked me. I think it's a shame but the prospects of me doing another one now are remote. Please do campaign on my behalf.

~Julie Walters

I wanted above all else not to be like my mum.

~Julie Walters

Self worth is everything. Without it life is a misery.

~Julie Walters

In order to be creative you have to be allowed to fail.

~Julie Walters

I never had any acting heroes. I never really went to the theatre.

~Julie Walters

It's getting better generally, daily, especially in TV, for women in acting and age and looks count less. As more women come into the business. Change of any sort takes a long time to happen.

~Julie Walters

I'm massively talented, and very, very beautiful in person; the public don't really realise that.

~Julie Walters

I was the little, funny one. I felt I was the child among grown women.

~Julie Walters

I can talk myself so much into my part.

~Julie Walters

I'm too young at 50. I'm not grown up yet. There's part of everybody like that.

~Julie Walters

You can't help but feel a little bit like a mother to the younger cast members.

~Julie Walters

The money isn't a lure. I've done very well out of this business.

~Julie Walters

I've never done so much bloody crying in my life. I was always moaning about how hard it was when we were shooting, how awful I felt.

~Julie Walters

I was feeling very irritable. It was that difficult time of the month when the credit card statement arrives.

~Julie Walters

We have to take risks with art. If we don't, it all becomes a bit boring

~Julie Walters

I was having my teens in my 30s.

~Julie Walters

I'm more selective now I've got a family. I don't want to work all the time. My daughter's 12; I don't want to miss out on her life. Soon she'll be a teenager; she won't want me around.

~Julie Walters

Some people have a terrible stretch between family and work. It is a difficult thing to achieve.

~Julie Walters

Shakespeare - it's not funny. No matter how they try to make Shakespeare funny, when it's meant to be funny it's not funny.

~Julie Walters

Some of the most interesting questions needing to be asked today can best be asked on television, or on stage, and they can be wonderful, great dramas, but they won't necessarily be blockbusters.

~Julie Walters

The way I relax is I think, 'I haven't got anything coming up.' I like to know there are months ahead when I've got nothing.

~Julie Walters

It wasn't being an alcoholic - it was going wild. It happened when I got famous. It was like having my teens in my early thirties: blotting out your life, not having to think about anything.

~Julie Walters

I'm interested in politics, what's going on in the world, how people behave and how your life is often in the hands of other people.

~Julie Walters

As soon as I gave birth, it was as if you understand them. They become people, not kids. You start to identify with them. You see yourself in them.

~Julie Walters

I went through bits of the 60s and thought myself a bit of a hippy.

~Julie Walters

I always loved my mother, felt loved, but she was judgmental. Her father in Ireland didn't approve of women generally, and she took on his values. She believed her own mother was foolish.

~Julie Walters

The characters do have a life of their own; it's weird.

~Julie Walters

I felt my mother about the place. I don't think she haunts me, but I wouldn't put it past her.
