You see, I have many friends in the Hindi film industry.

~Kabir Bedi

I love the stage, I love the process of acting in theatre, but unfortunately, it doesn't pay the bills.

~Kabir Bedi

Men are like mascara, they run at the slightest display of emotion.

~Kabir Bedi

Everything has its advantages and disadvantages.

~Kabir Bedi

Delhi is my emotional home. I still dream of owning a home there.

~Kabir Bedi

I'm not the sort to wallow in nostalgia about the good old days.

~Kabir Bedi

The average Englishman has no idea of the dynamism in the music scene here.

~Kabir Bedi

I also said, men are like curling irons, they never get out of your hair. And they are like government bonds, they take so long to mature.

~Kabir Bedi

I have never pressurized a producer to do me any favor.

~Kabir Bedi

You are probably right when you say that I could get a role in any producer's film if I just asked.

~Kabir Bedi

I grew up speaking English and Punjabi. Just living and working in Punjab and smelling the early morning air and sitting down and having paranthas and lassi and all that was marvellous.

~Kabir Bedi

I could play Arab roles, even German roles, Italian roles because I had that look.

~Kabir Bedi

The advantage my looks gave me was that I wasn't limited to just playing Indian roles when I was abroad, and I've been abroad for almost twenty-five years.

~Kabir Bedi

Actors are limited by their appearance and while it has cost me some roles, it has got me some very important roles too.

~Kabir Bedi
