

Karl Pilkington Quotes

People, Funny, Thinking, Knows, Eye, Ifs, Holiday, Animal, Stuff, Looks, Years, Ideas, Mean, Men, Needs, World, Problem, Book, Giving, Idiot

Parrots have gone a bit quiet since pirates have gone.

~Karl Pilkington

It's like the panda, they say that's dying out. But what do they do? When you see them they're just sitting in the jungle eating.

~Karl Pilkington

It would be spiteful to put a Jellyfish in a trifle.

~Karl Pilkington

Pigeons: They've got wings, but they walk a lot.

~Karl Pilkington

I've got loads of nieces and nephews.

~Karl Pilkington

Avocados, it's a food that ain't worth injuring yourself for. If it's a hassle to get into, leave it to the experts.

~Karl Pilkington

[Jellyfish] are 97% water or something, so how much are they doing? Just give them another 3% and make them water. It's more useful.

~Karl Pilkington

We've had the Iron Age, the Stone Age, this is the pissin' about age.

~Karl Pilkington

People who live in a glass house have to answer the door.

~Karl Pilkington

You know, when you're a producer, you're a bit of a lackey. You're just making cups of tea and making sure they've got newspaper, stuff like that.

~Karl Pilkington

Yesterday, I did some painting then went out to buy an onion and came home and watched 'University Challenge.' The onion was probably the highlight.

~Karl Pilkington

Stay green, stay in the woods, and stay safe.

~Karl Pilkington

Sometimes you can know too much. A lot of brainy people like Stephen Fry are quite depressive.

~Karl Pilkington

I've heard that fact, that is you eat more than six bananas it will kill you. I saw a bowl with seven bananas in it and I thought, that's dangerous.

~Karl Pilkington

Why didn't evolution make a giraffe good at carpentry so it could build a ladder?

~Karl Pilkington

It's weird how me and that insect are miles apart in terms of lifestyle, yet we both like a biscuit.

~Karl Pilkington

Cat food. It stinks a bit, but if you don't put up with the smell, the little kitten will die.

~Karl Pilkington

The cafe was called Tattoos. The fella who owned it didn't have any tattoos... but we never saw his wife.

~Karl Pilkington

I was impressed by the Taj Mahal. A good bit of work, well looked after, worth paying money to see.

~Karl Pilkington

I look at life like a big book and sometimes you get half way through it and go 'Even though I've been enjoying it, I've had enough. Give us another book.'

~Karl Pilkington

A problem solved is a problem caused.

~Karl Pilkington

Stop looking at the walls, look out the window.

~Karl Pilkington

I find that if you just talk, your mouth comes up with stuff.

~Karl Pilkington

If you can't do it, don't do it.

~Karl Pilkington

If you sit in a bath of pineapple chunks, it can kill you. That's well documented.

~Karl Pilkington

We're gonna get weaker. That's already happened. They used to say, you know, an apple a day keeps the doctor away. Now they're saying eat five fruits. That's evidence. You can't argue with that.

~Karl Pilkington

You never get an angry man suddenly breaking into a whistle.

~Karl Pilkington

A dog has got human eyes.

~Karl Pilkington

I think people would live a bit longer if they didn't know how old they were. Age puts restrictions on things.

~Karl Pilkington

They do it in Thai restaurants in London. You ask for a drink, and it comes in a glass with loads of seaweed and pebbles in it like a scene from Finding Nemo.

~Karl Pilkington

A single vision is more perfect than a committee vision because with everyone having their say, it becomes compromised.

~Karl Pilkington

it annoys me a bit how people like squirrels but not rats. at the end of the day they're the same thing, except that squirrels have had a better upbringing.

~Karl Pilkington

I don't understand why people take pictures of mimes. Everyone looks like a mime in a picture.

~Karl Pilkington

Where you are is what you eat. When I'm in London I'll have beans on toast for lunch. On holiday - what? Tapas? Go on then I'll have a bit. You eat whatever's in that area.

~Karl Pilkington

A slug is always on its own. It's a lonely insect.

~Karl Pilkington

Does the brain control you or are you controlling the brain? I don't know if I'm in charge of mine.

~Karl Pilkington

I don't watch much telly, the telly hardly goes on, but the things I do watch are sort of nature programs, and something about the oceans and the amount of weird fish that's in there.

~Karl Pilkington

I've always wanted to kick a duck up the arse

~Karl Pilkington

Every problem solved is a problem made.

~Karl Pilkington

We're just a weed in the universe

~Karl Pilkington

If you had five photos of anuses, I could not point mine out.

~Karl Pilkington

And we've got a toaster and everything. So there is no reason for the wedding.

~Karl Pilkington

As long as you're remembering baby Jesus, does it matter when you're remembering him. That's what I'm saying about Christmas, I might not be in the mood for it December 25th.

~Karl Pilkington

Apparently you're not allowed to lick a toad's back.

~Karl Pilkington

Well...like, when you're born, you're a little baby, you're wrinkly and stuff, when you get older you sort of morph into a baby again.

~Karl Pilkington

People always tell me I'm going to regret not having kids. But what if I have one and then I regret having it? Has anyone thought of that option?

~Karl Pilkington

Normally you can't hear you're own voice because you're talking over it.

~Karl Pilkington

If Camels are the ship of the dessert, this one is the Titanic

~Karl Pilkington

Being honest with you, it's not the 'great' wall of China. It's an all right wall. It's the 'All Right Wall of China.'

~Karl Pilkington

At what point is a wasp ever going to have a chat with a spider?

~Karl Pilkington

We are always making more and more stuff in the world. You know; big buildings, big planes, big boats and that. Will we ever get to a point where all this is too heavy for the world to handle?

~Karl Pilkington

What happens if someone else has my eyes, and they start looking at stuff I don't like? I don't like the idea of that.

~Karl Pilkington

There is no need for ants to have the ability to fly

~Karl Pilkington

I don't think I'd be a very good parent. I'd be too honest.

~Karl Pilkington

I think it's clever how Rome have kept a load of old stuff. There's no overheads, yet people are going over there to see it.

~Karl Pilkington

There is someone for everyone, i'nt there. That's always my thing. And it's reassuring I think.

~Karl Pilkington

I've never won many awards, I didn't get certificates for swimming or anything.

~Karl Pilkington

People say if bees die out, the world would end apparently. Now, I don't know if that's true, if that's some bee enthusiast who managed to write a good document and people believe this.

~Karl Pilkington

I could eat a knob at night.

~Karl Pilkington

I thought the fart was a human thing. It's something to do with like, arse cheeks, or whatever.

~Karl Pilkington

I never buy a piece of art. I don't see the point in buying something because I know my eyes will get bored of it eventually.

~Karl Pilkington

Heaven? Floating about with everyone you ever knew for eternity? Me family does me 'ed in after one day at xmas, I'd rather be mush.

~Karl Pilkington

I'd rather live in a cave with a view of a palace than live in a palace with a view of a cave.

~Karl Pilkington

We've invented most of the stuff that we need and now we're just messing about

~Karl Pilkington

I don't know why small chocolates are called fun-sized; I mean, if I called a midget fun-sized, they'd kick off.

~Karl Pilkington

What I mean is, I don't know what I mean.

~Karl Pilkington

I'm not invited to any exciting parties and my life hasn't really changed.

~Karl Pilkington

I just sort of go along and say what I think -and that's all you can do in life, really.

~Karl Pilkington

It is hard eating a little kangaroo knob.

~Karl Pilkington

The only reason you don't go on holiday, is 'cause you have to spend money.

~Karl Pilkington

If you're worrying about the wrinkles on your bollocks I'd say your life's pretty good

~Karl Pilkington

If you're not happy looking a knob in the face, there's something wrong.

~Karl Pilkington

The great pyramid is overrated. It's a bad design. The lounge is going to be huge, but the bedroom is going to be tiny.

~Karl Pilkington

In the sea you've got to be constantly sort of alert. It's worse in the sea [than anywhere else in the animal kingdom]. In the sea you've got an enemy behind every rock.

~Karl Pilkington

People say having kids is life changing, well that doesn't necessarily mean a good thing, does it? I could take one of my legs off. That would change my life.

~Karl Pilkington

At some point, some insect has had sex with a leaf.

~Karl Pilkington

I'm not that lazy, but I don't need that much money. I lead a fairly simple life.

~Karl Pilkington

Knowledge is almost annoying.

~Karl Pilkington

It's 2006, why are they still using the index finger?

~Karl Pilkington

But I'm not an idiot. At the end of the day, I've learned a lot.

~Karl Pilkington

Why is it alright to be going around, going mental with a gun, shooting all the monkeys and killing them? Because one day we're going to run out.

~Karl Pilkington

You never see an old man eating a Twix

~Karl Pilkington

The Tudors, I don't even know if I had a family back then.

~Karl Pilkington

It's interesting to see that people had so much clutter even thousands of years ago. The only way to get rid of it all was to bury it, and then some archaeologist went and dug it all up.

~Karl Pilkington

Your dreams should never be better than your real life

~Karl Pilkington

It's not a joke: I really do like being at home.

~Karl Pilkington

The reason there are so many gyms in London is because the amount of gay people who are here now.

~Karl Pilkington

They say it all started out with a big bang. But, what I wonder is, was it a big bang or did it just seem big because there wasn't anything else to drown it out at the time?

~Karl Pilkington

Could the world fall?

~Karl Pilkington

Me in a one-man tent crouching over carrier bag. It's not just the lowest point of the trip. It's the lowest point ever. In 38 years.

~Karl Pilkington

We all just want to sit on our ass.

~Karl Pilkington

Well I'm trying to think what I put in... I think I put in 'why?' to see if I'd confuse the computer.

~Karl Pilkington

The Chichen Itza is just a pyramid with four sides, with stairs on each side leading to some kind of bungalow on the top.

~Karl Pilkington

How would I know which one I was?

~Karl Pilkington

When i was younger i remember once i went to bed and i was so happy that i laughed myself to sleep.

~Karl Pilkington

I saw a bee have a heart attack.

~Karl Pilkington

It's like there's some unwritten rule that if you're mates, you can say what you want to each other, and you don't really get that annoyed about it.

~Karl Pilkington

All fame is is having people you don't know coming up to you and saying, 'Hello.' I'm always polite and people are always nice, but it's weird.

~Karl Pilkington

I've never understood the 'things to do before you die' idea. If I was ill, I'd be in no mood to have a swim with a dolphin.

~Karl Pilkington

Who'd have thought the Frisbee would have caught on?

~Karl Pilkington

Related Links:

- People Quotes
- Funny Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Knows Quotes
- Eye Quotes
- Ifs Quotes
- Holiday Quotes
- Animal Quotes
- Stuff Quotes
- Looks Quotes
- Years Quotes
- Ideas Quotes
- Mean Quotes
- Men Quotes
- Needs Quotes
- World Quotes
- Problem Quotes
- Book Quotes
- Giving Quotes
- Idiot Quotes