Isn't it funny that at Christmas something in you gets so lonely for - I don't know what exactly, but it's something that you don't mind so much not having at other times.

~Kate Langley Boshier

When you can't change a thing, don't let it change you.

~Kate Langley Boshier

A man would rather fail according to his own ideas than succeed according to another's.

~Kate Langley Boshier

As for opinions, if they're not pleasant they'd better be kept to yourself. I learned that early in life and forget it every day.

~Kate Langley Boshier

... the place you're in is pretty near what you're fitted to fill. Otherwise you'd get out and fill another.

~Kate Langley Boshier

All men are no more alike than all women, only aliker.

~Kate Langley Boshier

There's nothing a man can stand so much of as praise.

~Kate Langley Boshier

Nothing shows the kind of fool you are as quick as your tongue.

~Kate Langley Boshier

It isn't bad judgment to make a man believe he is something. He is by nature inclined to it, and a little encouragement is good for most people.

~Kate Langley Boshier

Death is dreadfully personal, terribly important to oneself, and so unimportant to the rest of the world.

~Kate Langley Boshier

I hate a conscience. It's always making you feel low down and disreputable. I don't believe I will say anything to my children about one, and let them have some peace.

~Kate Langley Boshier

In a man they forgive anything. In a woman nothing.

~Kate Langley Boshier

A man may be made in one generation, but a lady never!

~Kate Langley Boshier

As long as I am on this little planet I expect to love a lot of people and I hope they will love me in return.

~Kate Langley Boshier

People are generally opposed to things they know nothing about.
