The elegance and the quality - the talent is always in the literature. I start with the word and I base everything on that. It doesn't make any difference to me.

~Kate Mulgrew

I have a very rich and wonderful personal life, and at its core are my sons.

~Kate Mulgrew

Abortion does not compute with my philosophy.

~Kate Mulgrew

An Edward Povey hangs in my living room and every day I am reminded of his originality, his beauty, and the eternal promise of his craft.

~Kate Mulgrew

Execution as punishment is barbaric and unnecessary.

~Kate Mulgrew

It's not refreshing where there is confusion or any kind of discomfort in a group that has to work that closely together.

~Kate Mulgrew

Over the course of my career, which is about 40 years, I've visited plenty of prisons and I know what they're like.

~Kate Mulgrew

I've done a lot of television in life, and I don't remember the last time that I felt so consistently happy [working with Jenji Kohan].

~Kate Mulgrew

I was caught in a private cycle of sadness and the only conceivable relief I could find was in the telling.

~Kate Mulgrew

Of course, the young male demographic has always been the target demographic for 'Star Trek,' the men ageing fifteen to about twenty-five or thirty, a very tough market to appeal to.

~Kate Mulgrew

We are talking about someone who has lived. It must be honored in every respect. The fictional can take any kind of channel - according to the actor's marriage to the character.

~Kate Mulgrew

Great writing is great writing. It's as simple as all that.
