I like colorful tales with black beginnings and stormy middles and cloudless blue-sky endings. But any story will do.

~Katherine Applegate

Homework, I have discovered, involves a sharp pencil and thick books and long sighs.

~Katherine Applegate

When I'm drawing a picture, I feel...quiet inside.

~Katherine Applegate

Death's gruesome face taunts: soulless eyes, crimson grimace. I really hate clowns.

~Katherine Applegate

Growing up gorilla is just like any other kind of growing up. You make mistakes. You play. You learn. You do it all over again.

~Katherine Applegate

I think that in many ways, just as forgiveness is impossible without love, sometimes love requires forgiveness for it to work, too.

~Katherine Applegate

Her eyes hold the pale moon in them, the way a still pond holds stars.

~Katherine Applegate

Pain is life. Life is pain.

~Katherine Applegate

Old age is a powerful disguise.

~Katherine Applegate

Human can surprise you sometimes. An unpredictable species, Homo sapiens

~Katherine Applegate

Mosquitoes are the greatest mass murderers on planet Earth.

~Katherine Applegate

Humans waste words. They toss them like banana peels and leave them to rot. Everyone knows the peels are the best part.

~Katherine Applegate

Humans. Violent but peace-loving. Passionate but cerebral. Humane but cruel. Impulsive but calculating. Generous but selfish. And yet, somehow I knew that they represented the best hope of the galaxy.

~Katherine Applegate

Memories are precious ... they help tell us who we are.

~Katherine Applegate

About chocolate: "This is what laughing tastes like.

~Katherine Applegate

They think I'm too old to cause trouble. Old age is a powerful disguise.

~Katherine Applegate

You can't have real pain without real love. You can't feel grief and loss and hurt without real love. Love is the only way you can ever be really hurt deep down.

~Katherine Applegate

Right now I would give all the yogurt raisins in all the world for a heart made of ice.

~Katherine Applegate

Yes," he said. "You were strong. You were brave. You were good. You mattered.
