

Kelly Ripa Quotes

Kids, Thinking, Three, Exercise, Perfect, Trying, Wise, Children, Feel Better, Emotional, Childhood, Heart, Work Out, House, Strong, Jeans, Lasts, Artist, Jobs, Enough

If there's cheesecake in the house, I'll have some.

~Kelly Ripa

I'd rather not have a moment when I'm known for my looks; being funny and interesting lasts longer.

~Kelly Ripa

I think children are like pancakes. You sort of ruin the first one, and you get better at it the second time around.

~Kelly Ripa

I don't have the best family history heart-wise, so I really try to keep my heart strong.

~Kelly Ripa

It makes my makeup artist's life easier. [Plus] it makes my eyes look a little more open on TV, which is where I happen to work right now.

~Kelly Ripa

If I win, it's because of my natural ability and if I lose, it's because I wasn't trying so hard.

~Kelly Ripa

My job affords me the luxury of having help. I don't feel exhausted, I feel lucky.

~Kelly Ripa

I try to make my heart beat out of my chest, hard-core, once a day for at least a half hour. I think that's very important.

~Kelly Ripa

I always remind my kids, "I'm your parent, but I'm a human being, too, so I may not be perfect."

~Kelly Ripa

I treat my cheeks like breasts in a push-up bra. I just reach down in there, lift them up and push them together. And they'll stay put if the jeans are tight enough.

~Kelly Ripa

I had a picture-perfect childhood. My parents were like June and Ward Cleaver; there was nothing dysfunctional about them.

~Kelly Ripa

I'm not a prettier everywoman. I am an everywoman that they clean up awfully well for T.V.

~Kelly Ripa

If I feel any sort of emotional upheaval, I go for a jog and I feel better.

~Kelly Ripa

Having been a cheerleader, I know all too well what these girls give up to join forces and compete.

~Kelly Ripa

I read that book How to Hug a Porcupine [by Julie Ross] - it's my parenting bible. They say you have to trust your children and give them freedom. I say, OK, but this is New York City!

~Kelly Ripa

Women's clutches are too small. I open my purse, and with some hydraulic force, a tampon shoots 12 feet into the air.

~Kelly Ripa

I get paid to make out with the hunks!

~Kelly Ripa

I had a picture-perfect childhood.

~Kelly Ripa

If you're a waiter and you're waiting on me, you might get five percent, you might get seventy percent. It depends on how bad my math skills are that day.

~Kelly Ripa

I work out every day. It's part of my life. That's one of the benefits of having kids in school full-time.

~Kelly Ripa

I think I have a disease called spontaneous disclosure. I need to tell everyone my life story instantaneously.

~Kelly Ripa

When I'm at work, I'm remembering what I forgot to do for the kids, and when I'm with the kids, I'm remembering what I forgot to do at work.

~Kelly Ripa

I feel like my mind is a little quieter when I exercise.

~Kelly Ripa

Woo-hoo! I'm 40. I can say that now.

~Kelly Ripa

I work out with a trainer, Anna Kaiser, three days a week.

~Kelly Ripa

I'll quit tanning when the satchel handle grows out of my back.

~Kelly Ripa

Sleeping is not something I do a lot of.

~Kelly Ripa

Related Links:

- Kids Quotes
- Thinking Quotes
- Three Quotes
- Exercise Quotes
- Perfect Quotes
- Trying Quotes
- Wise Quotes
- Children Quotes
- Feel Better Quotes
- Emotional Quotes
- Childhood Quotes
- Heart Quotes
- Work Out Quotes
- House Quotes
- Strong Quotes
- Jeans Quotes
- Lasts Quotes
- Artist Quotes
- Jobs Quotes
- Enough Quotes