I tend to stay in one place and become a hermit and not leave. Work, work, work, and collect things, create and curate a space.

~Kesh

Art is something that everyone should be able to have access to.

~Kesh

Instead of collecting things and staying in one space, I want to collect experiences.

~Kesh

The way I view the works, they're more like feelings than anything else.

~Kesh

It takes me a long time to understand my work myself, so I name them in the order that they're created.

~Kesh

I'm not going to work with a company that uses my artwork, which is precious to me, and not allow me to do certain things.

~Kesh

Nowadays anyone can show their art to anybody via the Internet.

~Kesh

I want to always do things that are very current and pushing the boundaries of the way we create art.

~Kesh

I don't like things to be the same. I like things to evolve.

~Kesh

I'm not really a job-type person, where I go do a nine-to-five. I have to be with the work at all times and experiencing it.

~Kesh

If I keep going outside, I get distracted - and all these lunches and things I get invited to, I just don't care. I just want to make the work. New York is very distracting.

~Kesh

That's how I feel about the work. The work is solid, the work exists and will stay the same, but if you can have it playing and interacting with light, then it will always be different.

~Kesh

Being a digital artist enables me to take my signature pieces and place them in a dimensional reality that only really exists within my head. Then I can bring it to life.

~Kesh

We live on planet earth, we have the sun, and it's the most beautiful thing, the way the sun dances and the way shadows are cast.

~Kesh

I use Instagram as an online gallery to display my work. For me, it's almost more important to exist online than it is in real life.

~Kesh

I like to use things that didn't exist 50 years ago, or 20 years ago even.

~Kesh

I consider myself a digital artist, so what I'll do is create everything with technology.

~Kesh

My entire career comes from the power of social media and the way I've utilized those spaces and interacted with people across the world.

~Kesh

Social media is the new way to communicate, the new way to show your work. You don't have to rely on stuffy, traditional, and conservative methods to be able to display your work.

~Kesh

When I get into a zone, I obsess and I don't care about anything else. I have to make the work.

~Kesh

Social media is the basis of my career. Since I was a kid I've always used the Internet as a space to express myself creatively.
