It's always hard to lose somebody. It leaves a hole in you heart that never grows back.

~Kevin Brooks

Memories have no life. They're just pale reminders of a time that's gone-like faded photographs.

~Kevin Brooks

Trust, faith,good, bad... none of it matters. All you ever do is what you have to do. Follow your disires, fulfill your needs, escape from pain. That's all there is to it.

~Kevin Brooks

That's what happens. You just get on with it. There are no endings.

~Kevin Brooks

The days passed, as they do, and life went on.

~Kevin Brooks

Because some things are never meant to be anything more than a moment. And that was one of them.

~Kevin Brooks

never feel guilty about anything shame and guilt are a waste of time just do what you do-- and deal with it

~Kevin Brooks

The sadness, the silence, the darkness, the loneliness... all of it held in a simple little moment. It was just so... I don't know. Just so much.

~Kevin Brooks

It was a truth that invaded her, like a dark disease, a truth too painful to talk about. And I was beginning to wonder if all I was doing was making it worse.

~Kevin Brooks

his eyes took in the barren slopes and the scattered boulders and the lonely gray road winding its way into the fading hills, and I could feel him thinking to himself this is no place to die

~Kevin Brooks

It won't make you feel any better, he told me, it might even make things worse for a while. But you mustn't let the sadness die inside you. You have to give it some life.

~Kevin Brooks

I'm still living it now, every day, living it out in my mind - following the ups and downs, walking the pathways, reliving the moments of our Moonlight World... It's a day that never dies.

~Kevin Brooks

She moved closer to me, put her hands to my face, and kissed me softly on the lips. God, it felt so good. So perfect, so right... It felt so good, I nearly fell off the roof.

~Kevin Brooks

I used to come here on my own sometimes... I'd stay down here for ages." Her voice was barely audible. "It's a good place for sadness.

~Kevin Brooks

There are no endings.

~Kevin Brooks

In love and faith I just have to believe
